Senate Spurns Tax Cut Plan

Labor Heads Urge Action By President

Delegation Offers "Crash Program" To Halt Recession

WASHINGTON (AP) — Union labor's top command told President Eisenhower Thursday there's no use pinning hopes on quick economic improvement because all signs point to a worsening recession.

An eight-man delegation led by AFL-CIO President George Meany and Walter Reuther handed the President a "crash program" at a White House conference. It called for reduced taxes, increased unemployment insurance and accelerated defense and public works spending.

No 'Panic' Action

"We do not propose that the government act in a mood of panic," the union men said. "Rather we believe that reasoned and considered actions taken now, without delay, will militate against any climate of panic in the near future."

Meany and his fellow union leaders told the President that to date neither the administration nor Congress has proposed proposals big enough to meet the needs of the situation.

Meany said his group and Eisenhower had a very friendly meeting with no arguments.

David McDonald, president of the Steelworkers Union and one of the AFL-CIO chiefs who visited Eisenhower, spoke later to 1,000 AFL-CIO unionists. They have been busy for three days talking to senators and representatives.

Slogan Recalled

McDonald recalled the slogan that "As the steel industry goes so goes the nation." He said "it stands to reason nothing can sustain the over-all economy at the current position of only 10 per cent below last year if the steel industry continues to produce 40 per cent less steel than a year ago."

He said that with 214,000 steel workers unemployed in February and 353,000 others working only part time, one-half the union's entire membership faced serious economic problems.

Sen. Goldwater "Indicts" UAW For Violence

WASHINGTON (AP)— Sen. Goldwater (R-Ariz) declared Thursday he is convinced the United Auto Workers planned and executed violence in the four-year-old Kohler Co. strike.

Goldwater is a member of the Senate Rackets Committee which has been trying for weeks to find out whether the company or the union was chiefly responsible for the trouble at Kohler, Wis.

Addressing Donald Rand, administrative assistant to Emil Mazey, secretary-treasurer of the UAW, at a committee hearing, Goldwater said: "I'm getting a bit tired of you representatives of the International union sitting here and telling us you are innocent."

Rand had just denied that he or the union was responsible for a dockside outbreak which occurred when the Kohler Co. tried to unload a shipment of clay at Sheboygan, Wis., July 5, 1955.

Goldwater accused Rand of knowing a lot more than he was telling. He said the committee should get at the truth "even if we have to drag every man in Wisconsin down here" to testify.

McClellan (D-Ark), presiding at the hearing, commented he didn't think that would be necessary.

Farm Prop Freeze Voted

Unaccustomed To Automobiles

Nathan Leopold, notorious thrill killer of 14-year-old Bobby Franks in 1924, steps from auto for breath of air after his release from prison at Joliet, Ill., yesterday. He was en route to Oak Park, suburb of Chicago, with his attorney, Elmer Gertz, left. Leopold, unaccustomed to automobiles after spending 33 years in prison, became car sick four times during the 40-mile trip.

Senate Acts After Veto Is Forecast

WASHINGTON (AP)—In a slap at Eisenhower administration farm polices, the Senate voted 50 -43 Thursday against allowing cuts in farm price supports this year.

Then by the same margin it refused to pass a second bill freezing supports for dairy products alone. This measure was rejected 50-43.

The first bill, which now goes to the House, would freeze federal supports under most major farm products and crops, including dairy products, at no less than last year's levels.

It also would bar any reduction in acreage allotments below 1957 levels.

Eleven Republicans joined 39 Democrats to pass the measure. Opposing it were 35 Republicans and 8 Democrats.

Benson Forecasts Veto

Secretary of Agriculture Benson, who already has announced plans for cutting 1958 supports on wheat and dairy products, told a news conference before the Senate voted that President Eisenhower would veto the measure if it ever reached him.

The 50-43 margin by which the general freeze bill passed was well short of the two-thirds majority needed to override a veto.

It was with the veto threat in mind that some dairy state senators tried to pass separate legislation dealing with their products. They figured Eisenhower might allow a dairy product bill to stand while vetoing the all - inclusive measure.

Sen. Russell (D-Ga) opposed the separate treatment plan as a measure that would "split the farm bloc into pieces."

Sen. Douglas Agrees

Agreeing, Sen. Douglas (D-Ill) said the separate dairy freeze might "permit the President to veto the general bill, sign this one, and hold forth as the protector of the dairy farmer."

Benson has announced an average wheat support for this year at $1.78 a bushel, or 22 cents less than last year's $2 average.

Benson also has announced reductions in dairy price supports effective April 1. These would still be barred by the general freeze bill if it becomes law.

Exempted from the general price support freeze were tobacco, and corn produced by commercial area farmers who ignore controls.

Budget Chief Resigns; Job Goes To Aide

President Names Stans To Succeed "Percy" Brundage

WASHINGTON (AP)—Percival F. Brundage, who was alternately cussed as a spendthrift and a skinflint, resigned Thursday as budget director.

President Eisenhower moved Dep. Director Maurice H. Stans up to succeed him in the fiscal hot seat.

The change comes during a lull between budget storms, with preliminary work just getting under way on the 1960 fiscal blueprint which will be submitted to Congress next January.

Brundage, who will be 66 next month, said he was leaving the $22,500-a-year post to "attend to some personal matters that have been neglected."

Predecessors Set Example

He also noted in a letter to Eisenhower that his immediate predecessors set an example of resigning after a few years to give "others with a fresh viewpoint" a chance.

When reporters asked White House press secretary James C. Hagerty whether Brundage was leaving because of any policy differences, he replied, "Of course not."

Brundage has been director of the Budget Bureau since April 2, 1956.

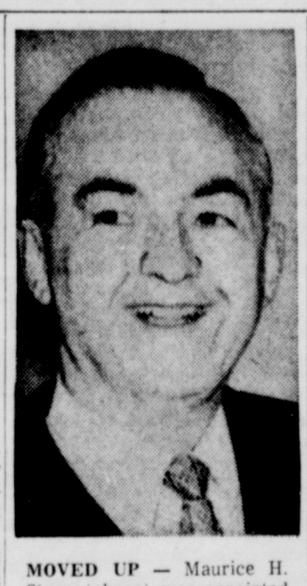

Eisenhower accepted his resignation effective Saturday, and told Brundage in a "Dear Percy" letter that he was grateful for "outstanding service."

Road Rough For Brundage

Brundage has had a rougher ride, in the past 15 months, than any of his recent predecessors.

A year ago last January his record peacetime budget for fiscal 1958, the year that ends this June 30, came in for violent criticism and helped spark the widely touted "economy drive" in Congress.

But when Brundage tried to whittle two billion dollars off the spending total in drafting the fiscal 1959 budget now before Congress, he walked into a storm of protest from the other direction.

MOVED UP — Maurice H. Stans (above) was appointed by President Eisenhower yesterday to succeed Percival F. Brundage, who resigned as director of the budget. Stans is now deputy director.

FCC Asks Court To Let It Review Miami TV Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission asked court permission Thursday to second-guess itself on a Miami TV case. Meantime, new testimony in a House influence probe churned up such different names as House Republican Leader Joe Martin and the gangster "Little Augie."

The FCC told the U.S. Court of Appeals here it wanted to review its 1957 award of Miami Channel 10, worth several million dollars to a National Airlines subsidiary in the light of developments stemming from the congressional inquiry.

The FCC move came more than a week after Richard A. Mack resigned from the commission in the wake of charges he was under the financial influence of a lawyer who went to bat for National Airlines when the case was before the FCC.

Thursday, Frank W. Miller, a radio TV-advertising man, told the House subcommittee on Legislative Oversight he called on Rep. Martin "to ask him how things were going and things like that" in FCC's consideration of the Channel 10 case.

Miller said he was acting for A. Frank Katzentine, who lost the license fight to National Airlines.

Apparently Martin didn't give him much help. At least Miller said he never heard from the Massachusetts Republican again, even though he told Katzentine in a telegram, the day he called on Martin: "Joe is going right down the line for us."

Katzentine paid a return visit to the witness stand Thursday and indignantly denied charges, which he attributed to his opponents in the TV fight, that he has associated with mobsters and allowed his Miami radio station WKAT, to be used in behalf of gambling on horse races.

Katzentine denied, among other things, he was acquainted with a gangland figure known as "Little Augie."

A former mayor of Miami Beach, and now president of the Greater Miami Crime Commission, Katzentine said he assumed the "Little Augie" was Augie Pisano, one of various underworld figures known by that nickname.

Estate Willed To Dog

ELIZABETH, N.J. (AP) — Mozart, a 2-year-old black and tan dachshund, has been left the residuary estate of Harold K. Beach, who died last Feb. 28 at the age of 74. An attorney said the sum was "considerable." Beach was a retired chief engineer at the Phelps-Dodge Copper Products Corp. of Elizabeth.

Amendment By Douglas Loses 71-14

Defense Dept. Will Speed Up Military Contract Letting

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Thursday night rejected a proposal to cut personal income and federal excise taxes by about $5,200,000,000.

The vote was 71-14.

Sen. Douglas (D-Ill) offered the proposal and contended a tax slash was the quickest and most effective way to deal with the "very serious recession now under way in this country."

Only 13 senators voted with Douglas, including 11 Democrats and two Republicans, Langer of North Dakota and Potter of Michigan.

But he ran into opposition from senators who contended that his proposal, offered as an amendment to a House-passed life insurance tax bill, could touch off a new round of inflation.

Opponents also objected that the tax cuts he urged had not been considered by the House and Senate committees handling tax legislation.

Eisenhower, Economic Advisers Confer Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower talked over the economic situation with his advisers again Thursday, after new pressure developed for tax cuts and heavier spending.

This pressure was brought by AFL-CIO leaders who reported they told Eisenhower the recession is growing worse, and to wait for improvement is not the cure.

The unionists said their White House visit was friendly, but there was no word of any new actions in the making.

In a major antirecession announcement, the Defense Department promised to raise to 10 billion dollars the amount of job-providing contracts it will place during the first six months of the year.

This is four billions more than were placed in the last six months of 1957.

Tax Cut Bill Introduced

Meanwhile, Rep. Simpson (R-Pa) introduced the tax reduction bill he announced last week. It would make total reductions estimated at $6,400,000,000.

An encouraging note was provided by the Federal Reserve Board in a report saying department store sales across the country last week were seven per cent higher than during the similar week of 1957.

Of the 12 Federal Reserve Districts only one — Kansas City— showed a decline and the drop there was only one per cent.

Still another bright note came from the federal housing administration.

It said applications for government-insured loans on new houses poured in last month at a rate 70 per cent higher than in February 1957. The applications reflected a willingness to spend and foreshadowed an increase in residential construction.

GOP Women To Hear Ike

Eisenhower's meeting with his economists, second in two days, lasted an hour and a quarter. Little was divulged of what went on, but it was separately disclosed that Eisenhower plans a public discussion of the situation next Tuesday.

His immediate audience that day will be 1,600 women here for a national Republican conference. Eisenhower also has scheduled a look-at-the-full-picture tax discussion Tuesday with GOP congressional leaders.

Chairman Meade Alcorn of the Republican National Committee said Eisenhower told him during a call today of his plans to speak to the women.

Ike, Macmillan To Meet June 9 In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower and Britain's Prime Minister Macmillan have agreed to review world problems including prospects for a summit meeting, at a two-day White House conference June 9.

The White House announced Macmillan's flying visit Thursday.

Top officials said the meeting undoubtedly would serve as a pre-summit strategy session, if a meeting with Soviet leaders has been agreed upon by then.

France's Premier Felix Gaillard may join the talks or fly in for a separate round about the same time, they said.

The Eisenhower - Macmillan meeting would be a followup to the conference the two men held last October when they appealed for greater cooperation among free nations to meet Russia's challenge.

The White House said Macmillan had informed Eisenhower he will deliver the commencement address at DePauw University at Greencastle, Ind., June 8.

"The President has taken advantage of the occasion of the Prime Minister's visit to this country to invite him to stop briefly in Washington for a general discussion with the President and the secretary of state," the White House said.

Press secretary James C. Hagerty said Macmillan will come to Washington after visiting DePauw.

Hagerty was asked whether the Eisenhower-Macmillan talks will include discussion of the possibility of a summit conference with Soviet Union leaders if no decision regarding such a meeting has been reached by early June.

Hagerty replied that under such circumstances he would assume the talks will deal with that matter, among others.

'Gun Girl' Shot To Death By Cop In Bus Station

TOPPENISH, Wash. (AP)—A gun-wielding 16-year-old girl was shot to death by a policeman in the bus depot here Thursday when she ignored his demand to put away the gun.

Dead is Sandra Lingscheit, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B.M. Lingscheit of Eltopia, 30 miles northeast of this south-central Washington town. She was shot by Richard Stevens, a Toppenish policeman for one year.

A companion of Sandra was identified by police as Janis Teel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Teel, Reno, Nev. She had been living with an aunt in Pasco, Washington.

Officer Stevens was sent to the bus station to meet the 12:35 bus from Pasco in response to a request from Franklin County officials that the two girls be picked up as runaways.

Jakarta Forces Seize Oil Field

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—The Indonesian government Thursday announced the capture of the oil field near Pakanbaru in rebellious Central Sumatra and said the American oil company, Caltex, was now free to resume operations.

(Rebel sources in Singapore said Central Sumatra forces withdrew to the outskirts of Pakanbaru. They said they had no information on casualties or whether the two sides still were fighting around Pakanbaru.)

The Indonesian government claimed that Pakanbaru, Caltex headquarters city 15 miles southwest of the big Minas oil field, was captured by 300 paratroopers and a combat regiment.

Premier Djuanda announced the capture.

Leopold Released, Plans To Serve His Fellow Men

JOLIET, Ill. (AP)—Nathan Leopold, thrill killer of the '20s, stepped into the world of free men Thursday and headed for what he says he hopes will be a lifetime in obscurity serving his fellow men.

The 53-year-old Leopold walked through the gates of Stateville Penitentiary, free on parole after serving 33 years, 6 months and 2 days of a life sentence for the 1924 killing of 14-year old Bobby Franks.

In 1924, on the night of Sept. 11, a noisy crowd numbering in the hundreds was on hand when Leopold and Richard Loeb, authors of what was called "the crime of the century," were brought to the old Joliet Penitentiary.

There were only a handful of the curious at the prison gates.

Leopold waved his hat to the crowd of newsmen. He fended off most questions—insisting that he wanted privacy—and handed out copies of a mimeographed statement.

The statement also asked for "a gift almost as precious as freedom itself—a gift without which freedom ceases to have much value—the gift of privacy."

Ralph Newman Leopold's friend and literary agent, drove him to the Newman home in Oak Park, a Chicago suburb. Leopold, unaccustomed to automobiles, became car sick four times during the 40-mile trip.

Under conditions of his parole, Leopold, son of a millionaire, will leave Chicago for Castener, Puerto Rico, for the job he requested as a $10-a-month laboratory technician in a Church of the Brethren mission hospital.

Loeb was killed in a prison brawl in 1936.

Havana Police Thwart Student Demonstration

HAVANA (AP)—Threats of Havana University's 18,000 students to stage a new demonstration faded Thursday as police sealed off all assembly areas.

Tension continued as rebels circulated rumors a major revolutionary attempt to overthrow President Batista might be made "within 48 hours."

Batista ordered police and armed forces to crush any disturbance.

Police guards were doubled or tripled at all public buildings and military establishments. Gunners behind sandbags guarded the presidential palace in the heart of Havana.

Police guarded the big Roman Catholic cathedral near the University of Havana. Radio cars stocked with weapons and grenades were stationed at street corners.

Police broke up small groups of students.

They chased away Associated Press photographer Harold Valentine trying to take pictures and ordered him back to his hotel. They arrested his taxi driver.

Students called upon all Cubans to observe 10 minutes silence starting at 3:40 p. m. in memory of Federation President Jose Antonio Echevarria. He and about 40 others were killed during rebel attacks on the presidential palace a year ago in an attempt to kill or kidnap Batista.

Rigid censorship was enforced preventing publication of any news about bloodshed and violence throughout the island. Batista's suspension of constitutional guarantees stripped Cubans of all civil liberties for 45 days.

Informed sources said elections Batista had set for June 1 will have to be postponed possibly until November.

Nixon To Represent Ike In Argentina

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower Thursday designated Vice President Nixon to represent him at the May 1 inauguration of Dr. Arturo Frondizi as president of Argentina.

The White House also announced that Nixon and his wife plan to visit some other South American countries in connection with their trip to Buenos Aires.

The itinerary will be made public later.

Nixon plans to be out of this country for about two weeks starting April 27.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, said Eisenhower had expressed regret to the Argentine government that he and his wife are unable to accept the inauguration invitation extended to them.

Hagerty noted that the President must be in Washington at that time because of a scheduled state visit April 29 to May 2 by President Carlos Ebanez del Campo of Chile.

Marooned Two Weeks By Snow, Families Get Aid

SMITH CENTER, Kan. (AP) — An Army helicopter from Ft. Riley late Thursday started a series of mercy flights to aid about 20 families marooned by 15-foot snowdrifts for two weeks.

Sheriff Mac Burgess said there is an average of 28 inches of snow on the ground in this northwest Kansas area, extending northward to the Republican River in Nebraska.

The big H21 helicopter and its three-man crew arrived late Thursday and the sheriff accompanied the crew on its first flight.

"We visited eight families and found them low on fuel and groceries and some needed medicine," Burgess said.

"Many of these families have been getting along the best they can, thinking they could outlast the snow, but they are beginning to get desperate."

Tunisia Gives U.S. Ultimatum

TUNIS (AP) —President Habib Bourguiba Thursday gave the United States seven days to decide whether to support Tunisia in its dispute with France or see this country turn its back on the West.

He told a nationwide radio audience events between now and the second anniversary of Tunisian independence, March 20, will determine his attitude.

"We are at the crossroads. We must choose," he said, after reminding Tunisians of his smpathies with the West.

Bourguiba claimed the continued presence of French troops here means "we are not truly free." As a sign of protest, he canceled celebrations planned for Independence Day.

He warned that the Tunisians might have to start their battle for indepencence from France all over again, but did not say whether he meant by military means.

Since the French bombed what they claimed was an Algerian village base in Tunisia on Feb. 8, Bourguiba has been demanding the French troops quit his country.

Red Boss Wants "Reasonable" Arms Controls

LONDON (AP) — Nikita Khrushchev said Thursday night the Soviet Union favors a disarmament system which provides for "reasonable international control." He did not define what he regarded as reasonable.

The Soviet Communist party boss again rejected any separate consideration of President Eisenhower's proposal that outer space be used only for peaceful purposes.

In a letter published in the Leftist British weekly New Statesman, Khrushchev claimed the Eisenhower plan was designed to isolate the question of the intercontinental ballistic missile. He said the Soviet Union possesses the ICBM but the United States does not.

He said the outer space plan in the Soviet view "must be examined as part of the general disarmament problem, including the question of prohibiting nuclear weapons and liquidating the U.S. military bases surrounding the Soviet Union."

Klan Leader Found Guilty Of Inciting Indian Riot

LUMBERTON, N.C. (AP)—Dapper James W. Cole, acknowledged grand wizard of North Carolina's Ku Klux Klan, was convicted Thursday of inciting a riot among Lumbee Indians last Jan. 18.

Judge Clawson L. Williams, a veteran at handling Klan trials, deferred sentencing until Friday. Cole and James W. Martin, another Klan official convicted on the same charge, could get up to two years on the charge, a misdemeanor in North Carolina.

The all-male, all-white jury deliberated 43 minutes.

A crowd of 350, predominantly Indian, packed the small courtroom when the verdict was returned.

Cole, a self-styled minister in the Southern Free Will Baptist Church, was indicted on the riot charge after a crowd of Indians broke up a Klan rally near Maxton with gunfire.

The Indians said they became angry after the Klan burned two crosses in front of Indian homes the week before the widely-advertised rally. One of the crosses was burned in front of the home of an Indian woman whom the Klan accused of having an affair with a white man. The other cross was burned in front of the home of an Indian family which had moved into a white neighborhood.

Cole, who since has confined his appearances in North Carolina to "evangelistic meetings," has been free under $1,000 bond. After his conviction, Judge Williams ordered him taken into custody to await sentencing.

B47 Explodes In Air; Four Die

HOMESTEAD, Fla. (AP)—A B47 Stratojet bomber exploded in air and crashed flaming in the Everglades Thursday, killing the four men aboard.

The Air Force identified three of the victims as:

Lt. Paul James Pennington, 26, copilot, Altoona, Pa., survived by his wife, Wanda.

Capt. George Edgar Reid, 36, navigator, Plant City, Fla., survived by his wife, Gloria, and an 11-year-old son.

Maj. Frank H. White, instructor-pilot, Whittier, Calif., survived by his mother, Mrs. Pearl White of Whittier.

The name of the fourth victim was withheld until his relatives can be notified.

Both Industry, Consumers Plan Spending Reductions

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government got bad economic news Thursday from both industry and consumers: Both plan to reduce their spending in 1958.

Dimming hopes that a quick resurgence of private demand would hasten the end of the recession, two official studies were issued which are expected to re-enforce congressional cries for accelerated federal spending or tax reduction, or both.

In summary, the reports said:

1. Consumers show declining confidence in the business outlook. They plan to reduce their outlays this year for houses, new cars, home appliances and furniture.

This came from the usually reliable survey of consumer finances, prepared annually under direction of the Federal Reserve Board by the University of Michigan's survey research center.

2. Businessmen expect to cut their spending for new plants and equipment—an important source of new jobs—to 32 billion dollars this year. The decline will continue in second half 1958, the report indicated, and wind up the year at an annual rate somewhere below that figure.

Over the year, such capital investment is expected to be 13 per cent below last year's record total of 37¾ billion dollars, the government survey indicated.

This is a sharper cutback than previously had been forecast. The government report said the reductions, planned by all major industries except public utilities, mark the end of the recent boom in capital investment.

These findings were made in the regular quarterly survey on plant and equipment spending prepared by the Commerce Department and the Securities and Exchange Commission. It is based on reports filed by larger corporations, and it showed that industry already has curtailed such spending more than it expected to reduce it three months ago.

The consumer study, always closely watched as an index of public confidence, said families viewed their financial positions and projects less favorably than a year ago and expressed concern about the general business outlook.

Insurance Law Loophole Noted

BALTIMORE (AP)—A spokesman for Maryland's mutual insurance companies said Thursday there is a loophole in the new car insurance law which would enable a motorist to defraud the state.

Attorney J. Cookman Boyd Jr., who made the statement, represented the mutual companies in their unsuccessful battle against passage of the Unsatisfied Claim and Judgment Fund Law.

Motorists are paying into the fund when they get their licenses plates this year to build up a reserve. The $1 fee for a properly insured driver and $8 for one who is not is designed to protect a motorist from loss if a financially irresponsible person damages his auto.

Boyd said the doubtful section of the law concerns repairs made on a damaged car before a claim is filed against the fund.

The statute directs that a motorist qualified to make a claim against the fund shall first file notice of his intention to make such a claim.

And this, says Boyd, is the loophole: The notice must be accompanied by "itemized estimates of an automobile repairman or itemized bill, of the cost of repairs if the damage is to an automobile."

That would indicate a motorist could have his car repaired, then submit the bill, which might have been padded by conniving of the motorist and garageman.

Campus Editor Loses Her Job

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—The girl editor of the University of Maryland campus humor magazine Old Line was removed from her job Thursday.

The student-faculty committee on student publications voted 6-3 to remove Miss Tina Fragale for an "error in judgment."

The hub-bub over the latest issue of the magazine centered on what some university officials termed objectionable material. Some of the matter was described as an inference to obscenity.

Four students and two faculty members on the committee voted in favor of ousting Miss Fragale. Three faculty members were against the move.

Beauty Contest Finalist Slain; Boy Friend Held

BEAVER, Pa. (AP)—Shot in the chest and in the back, a 21-year-old blonde who almost became "Miss Pennsylvania" two summers ago was slain Thursday on an early-morning tryst with her married boy friend.

Miss Rosalie Leis was found dead in a wooded lane some four blocks from her home in the nearby town of Vanport, Pa. Police Chief Dewey Triance said an autopsy showed Miss Leis apparently was shot first in the chest, then five times in the back. At least one bullet pierced her heart. A .22 caliber revolver with six spent shells lay near the body.

Slim, balding Ted Pallow, a 25-year-old millworker who has been estranged from his wife and young child, was charged with murder.

At 2:35 a.m. when he walked into the Beaver police station and told Patrolman Edward McLister:

"I just killed a girl in Vanport."

Officers followed his directions to find the girl's body.

A hearing was scheduled Friday afternoon before Justice of the peace George Ostridge.

In a lengthy interrogation by police, Pallow said his wife and baby left their home in Midland because of his affair with Miss Leis. He told police she "broke up my home" but added "I loved Rosalie very much."

In the summer of 1955 Miss Leis was one of the finalists in the Miss Pennsylvania contest of the Miss Universe competition.

Senate Group Approves Road Work Speedup

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Public Roads subcommittee Thursday night approved a bill making available an additional 1½ billion dollars in federal funds this year to speed up highway construction.

Sen. Gore (D-Tenn), subcommittee chairman and principal author of the measure, predicted it would pass the Senate next week. He said it should mean thousands of new jobs in all sections of the country.

The additional funds would include $1,100,000,000 for the national superhighway network—the interstate system—and 400 million for the other federal aid-roads—the primary, secondary and urban systems.

Washington pays 90 per cent of the cost of the interstate and 50 per cent of the other systems. The states pay the rest.

But to speed work on the primary, secondary and urban networks this year, the subcommittee provided that the extra 400 million would have to be matched only on a 70-30 basis.

Also, the states could borrow two-thirds of their 30 per cent from the federal government, so that the actual effect would be to put this extra allocation on a 90-10 basis this year.

Gore has said that the work on these primary, secondary and urban systems—the so-called A-B-C roads—can be speeded up more easily than the more complex interstate system.

The subcommittee also adopted a watered-down form of an amendment sponsored by Sens. Neuberger (D-Ore) and Kuchel (R-Calif) providing for control of billboards along the interstate system.

School Bus, Driver Dead, Leaves Road

REEDSPORT, Ore. (AP)—A school bus, which had just dropped off a load of students and was returning for more, plunged over a high bank and into a field bordering Smith River Thursday.

Bus driver Harold Andrews, about 56, was found dead in the bus. Dr. D. L. Courtney said apparently he died of a heart attack.

The accident occurred shortly after the bus dropped off the last of about 50 students it was returning home from an elementary school at nearby Gardiner, a southern Oregon coastal town.

Dulles Reiterates U.S. Position On Summit Talks

MANILA (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said Thursday ways must be found to break the deadlock over a summit meeting but he again emphasized that the East-West leaders should discuss Germany and Eastern Europe.

The Soviet Union has rejected any summit discussion of German reunification or the political status of Communist nations in Eastern Europe.

Dulles reiterated the U.S. position that in addition to these subjects the conference agenda should include discussions of the use of outer space for peaceful purposes and steps to reduce the threat of nuclear warfare.

"The Soviets seem to be interested in having a conference," Dulles told a news conference. "We are interested in reaching some significant agreement. The value to us of a conference of any kind is a likelihood of reaching some agreement."

He spoke after adjournment of a three-day conference of Southeast Asia Treaty Organization ministers. He met privately during the conference with British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau.

"We arrived at some conditions of our own which we will submit to the NATO Council," Dulles said. After the NATO Council acts the conditions then will be submitted to the Soviet Union, he said.

The SEATO ministers ended their closed sessions with sharp criticism of governments which they said fail to distinguish between the policies of Communist and non-Communist nations. None of the neutral Asian countries were named, but the reference obviousl was to them.

Joblessness Canadian Election Issue

OTTAWA (AP)—Unemployment is a key issue in the Canadian election campaign. Voting takes place March 31.

The number of Canadian jobless is the highest since 1939. Political parties blame one another.

The Conservatives say the Liberals did nothing to stem an evident trend toward higher unemployment while they were in office up to last June 10. The Liberals say the Conservative government acted too slowly last fall as unemployment climbed.

The Cooperative Commonwealth Federation says both those parties are wedded to an unplanned economy of which periodic large-scale unemployment is part.

The Social Credit party contends the Conservatives abandoned parliamentary efforts to solve the problem when they could not find the answer, but says the situation is not of the new government's making.

Part of the unemployment is attributable to Canada's customary cold weather shrinkage in the number of seasonal jobs, but this year the shrinkage has increased more than normal.

The latest government estimate of persons without jobs and seeking work is 520,000, at mid-January. Another 50,000 had jobs then but had been on temporary layoff for a full week.

The 520,000 estimate was made by the Bureau of Statistics on the basis of its monthly sample survey of 30,000 households. Another set of government figures shows that at the end of January 834,544 persons were registered for work at the Labor Department's service offices.

If the pattern of previous years holds, these figures may be expected to go up until about midmarch and then start dropping.

The 520,000 figure compares with a postwar high of 401,000 in March 1955; with 523,000 in 1939; and with a depression peak total of 817,000 in 1933, all estimated by the Bureau of Statistics.

Each of the four chief political parties offers measures to combat unemployment.

The Conservatives under Prime Minister Diefenbaker say they are acting by cutting taxes, reducing loan interest rates, releasing 300 million dollars in housing loan funds, raising old age pensions, extending seasonal unemployment benefits by two months and stepping up public works programs. They say 250,000 jobs will be made available through public works and easier home-building money.

The Liberals, whose leader Lester B. Pearson, declares unemployment is the basic election issue, contend the way to reduce the number of jobless is by heavy tax cuts to increase consumer spending. They promise 400 million dollars more in tax reductions.

The CCF party says both Conservatives and Liberals are ignoring economic facts.

"Nothing less than a fundamental reorganization of the economy, nothing less than a program of social and economic planning through public agencies, democratically controlled through parliament, will suffice to deal with the situation," leader M. J. Coldwell has stated.

The Social Credit party suggests immediate bonus or dividend paymants to old age pensioners, needy families and the blind as a means of making available more spending power to stimulate business quickly.

Mahoney Hails Senate's Passage Of Housing Bill

Long Warns Israel Must Be Protected

BALTIMORE (AP)—Two senatorial candidates, who for weeks have busied themselves with political infighting, Thursday opened up with swings at national and international issues.

George P. Mahoney hailed the Senate's passage of legislation to spur home building and create jobs as "the type of anti-recession remedy I have been urging for a month."

And Clarence D. Long warned that Israel must be preserved as an outpost of Western democracy in the Middle East and protected against any hostile moves by the newly formed Arab bloc.

Both Mahoney and Long are campaigning for the Democratic nomination to the Senate seat held by Republican Sen. Beall, who wants to succeed himself. Their views were issued as statements.

Mahoney expressed disappointment at the provision in the Senate's boost - business bill which calls for higher interest rates on veterans' home loans.

"The administration recently showed signs of abandoning its 'tight money' program in favor of lower interest rates to encourage borrowing and stimulate business. As far as the veterans are concerned, however, the administration is determined to keep up the 'tight money' policy."

Mahoney has been advocating a home-construction program which he says would bring a million-home boost in construction annually and create two million jobs. The Senate bill is designed to stimulate the building of 200,000 homes and make jobs for 500,000 men.

Long said the "recent union of Egypt, Syria and Yemen into the United Arab Republic has placed Israel between the jaws of a nut cracker."

He suggested that the United States:

1. "Reaffirm the Eisenhower Doctrine, guaranteeing the territorial of integrity of Israel."

2. "Warn Egypt that if she continues to arm we shall consider expanding our shipment of arms to Israel."

3. "Invite Israel to become a member of NATO. In return, she would be asked to furnish territory for American military bases."

Despite a lack of important minerals and no direct access to overseas markets, Switzerland is predominantly an industrial country.

Hooded Bandit Robs Minister, Three Others

UPPER MARLBORO, Md. (AP)—A hooded bandit marched a minister and three other men to a field Thursday and after firing a couple of shots into the air ordered them to run.

Then the bandit fled with $156. The robbery was similar to one in Frederick County earlier this week.

The holdup began at a filling station at Mitchellville on U.S. 301 in northeastern Prince Georges County.

The victims included the Rev. Augustus Kenney of Alexandria, La and his son Augustus Jr., who had stopped at the gas station while enroute to Ft. Dix, N. J.

Frank H. Bowie, 33-year-old station attendant, gave police this account.

A man with a green hood over his face and carrying two pistols came into the station about 1:30 a.m. and announced "this is a holdup." Then just to show "I mean business" he fired a shot into the floor.

Next he order the four to get out their wallets and lay on the floor.

After getting $11 from the minister's wallet, $33 from his son and $114 from Bowie, he ordered the four out of the station. The fourth man was Willie Reio, a friend of Bowie.

Next he marched them nearly a quarter of a mile to a field where he shouted "halt," and fired two shots into the air.

"Now let's see how fast you can run," he said, and fired two more shots into the air."

The victims said later they heard a car start and drive off.

Last Monday in Frederick County a hooded two-gun bandit robbed a gas station attendant of $80 and marched him some distance from the station before fleeing.

Seized Oyster Boats Will Be Returned

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Thirteen oyster boats seized by the Tidewater Fisheries Commission on the Potomac River Monday night will be returned under bond to their Smith Island owners.

TFC officers confiscated the boats when they arrested 22 Eastern Shore watermen on charges of illegal oyster dredging. The arrests wer made off the southwest tip of St. Marys County, near a point where the bay and Potomac River meets.

John P. Tawes, TFC chairman, said St. Marys County officials agreed to release the boats under $1,000 bond until one week before the trial.

Release of the boats had been sought by Sen. Phoebus (R-Somerset) and Del. Simpkins (D-Somerset). The arrested watermen, all free under bond, are residents of Smith Island, a small island in the bay off Somerset County.

They were charged with dredging oysters in the Potomac, an act forbidden by Maryland law.

Paul J. Bailey, Leonardtown attorney representing the watermen, has waived a preliminary hearing. No date has been set for the trial.

Jobless Check Total Increases

BALTIMORE, (AP) — Last week 52,748 unemployment checks were issued in Maryland.

The total represented an increase of 5,276 over the week ending Feb. 15, the last normal business week not affected by the February blizzard.

The amount of last week's checks totaled $1,597,765, an increase of $164,686 over the amount paid out during the week ending Feb. 15.

The Department of Employment Security, which made the report, said initial claims for unemployment compensation totaled 6,343 last week.

GM Will Furlough

BALTIMORE, (AP) — The General Motors Corp. said Thursday it plans to furlough 750 workers at two plants here because of an excess of motor vehicles in the hands of dealers.

The layoffs will be effective March 31.

That would leave about 4,000 still on the job at the Fisher Body and Chevrolet plants.

M. J. Olsen, general manager of the Fisher Body plant, said 500 out of the plant's 2,060 workers would be furloughed. He said these are mainly semi-skilled assembly line workers.

L. C. Fitzgerald, manager of the Chevroet plant, said about 260 would be laid off.

Great Resurgence In Church Music Reported By Philadelphia Authority

With heightened fervor, American congregations are singing the songs of their faith.

And they're turning out stirring new material to rouse the voices — and lift the spirit.

"There's been a great resurgence in church music, both in quality and emphasis," said the Rev. Dr. Edward T. Horn of Philadelphia, a specialist on the subject.

"The people themselves are singing — not just the choirs and the cantors."

In Christianity and Judaism, songs of praise and joy always have been a firm tradition of worship, but the habit lost some of its vigor in the recent past. It is now surging with new energy.

"The content of church music has advanced greatly in the last 25 years," said the Rev. Albert C. Ronander of New York, also an authority on hymns. "The level of musical tastes in the church as a whole has improved.

"We're recovering the sturdy, vibrant singing of real Christianity."

Marking this development has been a whirl of activity in reviving the old church plainsongs and powerful chorales, the introduction of contemporary works and the compilation of new hymnbooks.

Here are a few of the recent results and current projects:

1. On Monday, distribution of a new "Service Book and Hymnal of the Lutheran Church" begins throughout the country. A joint commission on eight Lutheran bodies, with five million members, worked on the volume 12 years.

2. A new "Pilgrim Hymnal" of the Congregational Christian Churches, in the making since 1953 and the first revision in the denomination's hymnbook in a quarter century, is expected to be out by midsummer.

3. A special committee of the Roman Catholic Church, headed by the Rev. John Selner of Baltimore, is working on a new hymnal with plans to reclaim long-lapsed hymns in the vernacular for use by American Catholics.

4. Leading Jewish institutions, Yeshiva University and the Hebrew Union College-Jewish Institute of Religion, have set up new departments of cantorial training, and begun awarding degrees in sacred music.

5. After five years work by representatives of five denominations of the Presbyterian-Reformed tradition, a new, joint volume was published in 1955 called "The Hymnbook," and now is in use throughout those groups.

The latest, biggest completed job is the 1,024-page Lutheran book, with a uniform order of worship for the eight participating denominations, and 602 hymns many of them included for the first time.

Advance orders already have snapped up the whole first printing of 635,000 copies.

"Teacher Of Year" Believes In "Briefing" Parents

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP)—The way the "Schoolteacher of the Year" has it figured, it's almost as important to teach parents as it is to teach second graders.

So in Ames, Iowa, where Jean Listebarger teaches in the Edwards School, mothers and fathers are called in for evening meetings to be told what's going on in what must be one of the liveliest second grades in America.

"It's very important," she says, "that the parents know what you are trying to do."

And—Miss L. is quite fair about this—it's also important that she know as much as possible about each child's background and problems.

Miss Listebarger was named teacher of the year in the annual project sponsored by the U. S. Office of Education and McCall's magazine. So she's here and visited with President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon, who must now feel more encouraged about the state of U. S. education.

For you have only to talk with Miss Listebarger for a few minutes to realize she has something every good teacher needs: A continuous sense of the excitement and drama in watching a child develop and learn.

So she enjoys working with the child who is slow because he has a speech defect, and with the youngster who is going ahead so fast he does independent research so that he can draw a better flag on United Nation's Day.

"Maybe it's because I never taught any other grade," Miss Listebarger says loyally, "but I think children are more interesting in the second grade. They're just beginning such tremendous growth."

And Miss Listebarger isn't one to stint that growth.

She goes in heavily for science, with frequent field trips so that the youngsters can see for themselves.

And she feels they need a better understanding of what language is all about so she teaches them Spanish. This is an experiment which, unfortunately, isn't continued on into the upper grades, but Miss Listebarger still thinks it's well worth while.

Few teachers today look like the dried up old maid who once was a standard picture for the profession. Certainly Jean Listebarger doesn't. She's an attractive, enthusiastic young lady, in her seventh year as a teacher.

Since Ames is a college town—Iowa State College is located there—it presents special problems for the teacher.

Many parents are connected with the college. While they may have a high, and laudable, interest in their child's progress, they also may have educational theories of their own.

"They're a real challenge," Miss Listebarger said.

Though Miss Listebarger is all for educating mother and daddy, her heart belongs to her second graders.

"Children coming from such homes are a challenge, too," she said.

"They can ask very stimulating questions."

Withdrawal "Epic"

HONG KONG (AP)—The advertised withdrawal of Red China's troops north of the Yalu River this year is creating work for writers of Red North Korea. Radio Peiping said the writers plan to turn out 230 productions — novels, poems, plays and short stories—praising feats of "the departing heroes."

Crime In Baltimore Drops 27.3 Per Cent

BALTIMORE (AP)—Crime in Baltimore went down 27.3 per cent in February, compared with the onger month of January, Police Commissioner James M. Hepbron said Wednesday.

But figures for last month were 3.3 per cent above the rate for February 1957.

The commissioner's report showed that 1,903 crimes were committed in the city in February of this year compared to 1,842 in the same month last year.

A breakdown of crimes showed the following, February 1958 and February 1957, in that order: Murder 7 and 5; manslaughter 11 and 6, rape 5 and 10, holdups 28 and 28; assaults 134 and 151, burglary 129 and 136. The report listed several other categories.

The biggest drop was in auto thefts, from 381 in February of 1957 to 355 last month.

Only rabbits and sagehens are known to eat the leaves of the sage brush.

Opposition Leaders Back Summit Talks

NEW YORK (AP)—Opposition party leaders in three Western nations—England, France and the United States — Wednesday night voiced support for an East-West summit conference to try to break the arms deadlock.

They also said the West should be willing to agree to limited steps as a start, such as mutual suspension of nuclear weapons tests.

The views came from Adlai Stevenson, former Democratic presidential candidate; Hugh Gaitskell, leader of the British Labor party, and Pierre Mendes-France, former French premier.

They joined in a transatlantic radio discussion, which was transcribed for broadcast Wednesday over the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Stevenson said an East-West agreement on one point alone—the discontinuing of hydrogen weapons tests with suitable inspection provisions—would relieve "the most terrifying aspect of our contemporary scene."

"I feel that the package program that our governments have agreed upon as a disarmament proposal—the inference being that it must be accepted in whole or not at all — should be broken down," he said.

Congress Must OK Major Damage Claims In Accidental Bombing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Householders who suffered minor injury or damage when an unarmed A-bomb fell near Florence, S. C., Tuesday probably can collect their claims from the Air Force fairly quickly.

But those whose claims exceed $1,000 may have to wait from six to eight months for Congress to approve payment.

Six houses and a church were damaged and six persons were slightly injured in the accident. TNT in the bomb exploded but the disconnected atomic charge did not go off.

Pentagon lawyers said Wednesday the law specifically limits the settlement of damage claims by the individual armed services to $1,000. Amounts over that limit, they said, are generally put together in a special request to Congress to approve the payment of damages found legitimate after on-the-spot investigation by the military service concerned.

The Air Force said claims officers are stationed at all major air bases and that the process of determining the amount of damages from the accidental dropping of the bomb on the outskirts of Florence would get under way immediately.

Last April, the Defense Department submitted a proposal to Congress to raise the limit for direct payments of claims by the military services to $5,000. This measure was referred to the House Judiciary Committee, but has not been reported out for consideration by the whole House.

The Strategic Air Command has announced that a malfunction of the bomb release mechanism in a B47 caused the accident.

Air Force crews, both those who work on the ground and in the air, are ceaselessly engaged in inspecting their equipment. In the case of bomb frame holders, the locks that fasten the shackles together and the electric wiring and switches which release the safety locks, checking involves long hours by ground crews and by the men who go aloft in the plane.

The Air Force could only guess why the bomb release lock in the plane which flew over Florence failed to function properly. Only an exhaustive examination of every electrical, mechanical and metal device included in the bomb rack and releasing devices will show what happened.

This investigation may also determine whether the faulty lock was not working properly before the B47 left the ground of whether it was shaken loose after the plane climbed in the air.

Garden Theatre Property Is Sold At Public Auction

The Garden Theatre Company property on North Mechanic Street was sold at public auction Wednesday afternoon to a former Cumberland man, Frank Vandegrift.

Vandegrift, Kansas City, operator of a chain of over 200 Hudson Oil Company stations, purchased the property for $15,000, according to sale records.

The property went on the block through a mortgage foreclosure which had William M. Somerville, local attorney, assignee.

The theatre has been idle for a number of years. It had been operated for many years by the late Edward K. Magruder of Cumberland.

The building adjoins the Charles Gurley garage, which is also owned by Vandegrift.

The acquisition of the theatre at 125-27 North Mechanic Street has Vandegrift owning all the property on the street down past Southern Hotel. Vandegrift has had the hotel and bus terminal property for a number of years.

There were reports that he was considering tearing these buildings down for the location of a parking lot and Hudson gas station, but he said that this was not the situation.

All leases on the terminal, terminal restaurant and Gurley's Garage expire May 31, but Vandegrift was in Washington last week negotiating a new lease with Greyhound Corporation.

VICTIM OF FUMES—An unidentified man receives emergency treatment at Butler, Pa., Memorial Hospital after carbon monoxide fumes killed a co-worker and sickened 21 others deep in an old mine now operated as a mushroom farm. Nine men were detained at hospitals. Police said the fumes accumulated from a gasoline engine used to pump water from the mine operated by the Butler County Mushroom Farm, Inc. (AP Photofax)

Reorganization May Move Camp From Tucker Co.

CHARLESTON (AP) — Institutions Commissioner Harold Neely is asking institutions under his control to "reorganize staff responsibilities and duties to fit their particular programs."

On his first field trip since his appointment by Gov. Underwood last month, Neely said he found considerable duplication of effort and functions at the institutions he visited.

Neely returned to his office Wednesday after visits to seven of the 14 institutions he administers. He indicated he will go to the others in the next few weeks.

He visited the State Penitentiary, Hopemont Sanitarium, the Medium Security Prison, the Forestry Camp for Boys, the Children's Home at Elkins, and boys' and girls' industrial institutions at Pruntytown and Salem.

Neely said he would require each administrator to submit a complete new table of organization setting out duties assigned each staff member and employe. The tables will be prepared in connection with expenditure schedules for the next fiscal year.

Neely said he thinks that, for the most part, institutions his department administers have enough money for maintenance and operating needs if business and related practices are modernized.

"We must get our people out of the habit," Neely stressed, "of using the same old procedures they have followed for years on the assumption that those are the only ways."

Neely's visits to two institutions included discussion of plans for transfer of about 22 tubercular prisoners from the penitentiary at Moundsville to Hopemont Sanitarium near Terra Alta.

He said the program would be undertaken gradually, with guards to be assigned to the new Hopemont security ward moving there first. They will be followed by five attendants from among the penitentiary inmates.

There will be 14 in the first group of tuberculars moved from the penitentiary. The others will follow somewhat later. Neely said he thinks an average of about 25 prisoners will be under treatment at Hopemont all the time in the future.

His department plans to move controlled and arrested cases of tuberculosis back to the penitentiary after they have received all of the treatment Hopemont can provide.

Neely said he plans to take a "long new look" at the operation of the forestry camp for young male offenders opened in 1956, and at Camp Fair Chance — the honor camp maintained by the penitentiary outside the walls at Moundsville.

He said he has doubts that the forestry camp, which now has a population of 99 as against a normal capacity of 80, is in the right place to accomplish the purpose for which it was established.

The remoteness of the forestry camp site coupled with the long winter which limits outdoor activities to hardly more than three months a year, make the Tucker County location questionable, Neely explained.

He said he would confer with judges and others concerned with commitment of youths to determine if it might be advisable to re-establish the forestry camp elsewhere.

Neely also said he is not exactly certain just what function the prison honor camp serves in the state's penal setup. He questioned whether its operation does not interfere unfavorably with transfer of prisoners to the Medium Security Prison at Huttonsville.

The written type of examination is believed to have been unknown in schools and colleges until 1702. It was then that this type of examination was introduced at Trinity College, Cambridge, England.

Garden Club Plans Fall Flower Show

The Garden Club of Cumberland will sponsor its annual fall flower show September 8 and 9 at the Eagles Home.

Mrs. Gilbert Miller, president, announced plans for the show at a recent meeting of the club.

General chairmen for the event will be Mrs. William Frailey, Mrs. R. L. Horstman, schedule; Mrs. Irving Millenson, entries, and Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Steinberger, staging. Other chairmen will be announced in the near future, Mrs. Miller said.

R. W. Phillips, roadside chairman, reported on the progress of House Bill 41, which applies to outdoor advertising on limited access highways in Maryland. The bill was passed by the General Assembly and limits advertising to 600 feet from the highway.

Mrs. Ralph Isiminger, flower arrangement chairman, discussed arrangements and plants which were exhibited by Mrs. William Frailey, Mrs. Arthur Evans, Mrs. Myrtle Hurley and Mrs. Louis Curl.

Talks were given by Glenn E. Elwood, technical service representative of farm and home division of American Cyanamid Corporation; Dr. L. O. Weaver, Maryland State plant pathologist, and Joseph Steger, Allegany County farm agent.

Elwood spoke on ornamental plant disease control and herpecides. He also discussed the different types of sod and the requirements necessary to make it suitable for various types of plants.

Dr. Weaver spoke on plant insect control. He explained the types of insecticides that are used to control plant pests, blight and fungus and showed slides of garden pests and the destruction they cause.

Steger discussed the control of trees and poisonous vines, and explained the procedure necessary in having an analysis made of garden soil.

The next meeting of the club will be Monday, April 7.

Use a brush for lipstick, and draw your lips to the shape of perfection.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Where To Draw The Line

The most beautiful lips are in perfect proportion to the rest of the face. They are exactly as wide as the distance between the inside corners of the eyes. They are just full enough to occupy one-fourth of the space between the nose and the lower outline of the chin. The upper and lower lip are equal in depth.

If Nature hasn't blessed your lips with these perfect proportions, use a lipstick brush and see how well you can copy them yourself. To narrow a wide mouth, stop the line short before reaching the natural corners. Extend the line to widen a narrow mouth. Change the outline of lips that are not symmetrical. Even though your art efforts ceased with crayons in the seventh grade, this clever brush can turn you into quite an artist.

And use the brush even if no correction is needed — it's the big secret of perfectly applied lipstick. Draw with it literally. Start at the corner of the upper lip, draw the lip outline to the center of the mouth, then start at the other corner and again draw toward center. Outline the lower lip in the same way, always with the brush loaded with lipstick and with the lips relaxed. Fill in the outlines with the flat of the brush and blot the lipstick with a cleansing tissue.

If you are past forty, make sure that you're not taking the shape of your lips for granted. Lips that were perfect when you were younger may have changed. Take a good look at them to see them as they are, not as you always thought they were. They may seem thinner and need the fuller outline the brush can give them, or they may droop at the corners. Let's hope that a pleasant expression flicks up the corners most of the time, but let the brush help, too, to prevent droop while your mouth is in complete repose.

B&O Freight Traffic Off Sharply In February

Freight traffic on the B&O Railroad dropped nearly 24 per cent in February from the corresponding month last year.

Carloadings dropped from 229,950 in February 1957 to 174,917 last month.

This was the steepest drop for any month since railroad business began to slump just after Labor Day.

The sharpest drop was in iron and steel loadings, which fell 48.4 per cent. Coal traffic was off 17.56 per cent and miscellaneous loadings fell 19.62 per cent.

The daily average for February, which had 23 working days both in 1958 and 1957, was 7,605 cars against 9,998 for the similar month a year ago. For January, which had 26 working days, the daily average was 7,799.

February loadings were sharply reduced by the heavy snow and ice which blanketed the eastern part of the country in the middle of the month. Later there was some pick-up.

However, Howard E. Simpson, president, in a message to employes printed in the March issue of the B&O Magazine, noted that the seriousness of the decline in traffic becomes apparent when it is remembered that the company needs to move an average of 10,000 cars a day to maintain normal operation.

During the three months — November, Decemoer and January — the railroad handled 125,000 less carloads of freight and brought in $13,025,000 less revenues from that source than in the like period of the previous year, Simpson said. This represented a revenue drop of $1,000,000 a week.

Based on forecasts of leaders of industry and economists that business would improve in the last half of 1957, B&O early last year embarked on an intensive program to upgrade and expand its freight car fleet, Simpson reported. The company spent $34,000,000 last year in rebuilding and repairing freight cars. In addition, new freight cars costing $38,000,000 were ordered or acquired, and the company placed orders for 93 diesel units at a cost of $15,000,000.

But unfortunately, the B&O president said, conditions did not work out as expected, and ever since Labor Day carloadings have been decreasing at an accelerated pace. As of the middle of February, he said, the company had idle on the lines a daily average of 20,000 serviceable freight cars of all types in excess of requirements.

This investment in idle equipment, for which there is no apparent immediate use, he said, is a further price the railroad must pay for the "privilege" of service as a regulated carrier with the "obligation of providing enough equipment to handle a high level of business."

Television and Radio

by John Crosby

Ten Years Of Johns Hopkins

In another ten years, Dr. Donald H. Andrews predicted on the tenth anniversary program of Johns Hopkins University, we will be able to sit in our own living room and call out "London—Trafalgar Square" and immediately see that street crowded with cars and buses and the crowd on the sidewalk circling Nelson's monument.

"You will call out 'Tahiti—Pago Pago' and you will see the long breakers rolling in from the vast Pacific on to the palm-fringed beach. And all this will be in color and three dimensions. You will practically be there. You will call out 'Opera—Carmen' and the curtain will roll up on your own special performance of Bizet's masterpiece. You can, at will, have T. S. Eliot reading poetry for you or J. Robert Oppenheimer talking on the atomic nucleus, right by your fireside."

Technically, I imagine Dr. Andrews, a member of the chemistry department of Johns Hopkins, is quite accurate in his predictions. The TV picture will be in color and in three dimensions and it will be quite capable of spanning oceans and continents. But when Dr. Andrews says we will be able in ten years to call out "Opera—Carmen" or "Poetry—T. S. Eliot" and get it, he loses me. Not that TV will not be capable of doing those things; it is just that they won't do those things. Call out "Ralph Edwards—This Is Your Life" and you'll get him in three dimensions and color. Callout "Opera—Carmen" and I bet we get nothing but silence.

For the depressing thing about Johns Hopkins' tenth anniversary show which consisted solely of a whole series of predictions of things we might expect ten years from today, is that it wasn't really as good a program as some of the ones Johns Hopkins had on the air ten years ago and that this is a situation typical of television at large.

Johns Hopkins first went on the air March 9, 1948, when Dr. Franco Rasetti, internationally known physicist, conducted a program called "All About the Atom." That was the first of the "Johns Hopkins Science Review" shows which were once scheduled against Milton Berle (and outlasted him) and ran for eight years. It was superseded by "Tomorrow's Careers," another Johns Hopkins show, and that in turn by the present show, "Johns Hopkins File 7," which is pretty close to the original show. Only "Kraft Theater" has been on the air for a longer continuous run than Johns Hopkins.

But simply as a show, the tenth anniversary production which consisted sorely of scientists staring at a teleprompter and delivering speeches was no where near as good as some of those fumbling but imaginative efforts ten years ago. And that leads me to suppose that ten years from now—while the picture may be three D and in color—the content may be worse. Not many years ago, Pat Weaver decreed that little bits of educational television be interlarded with the regular commerical shows in order to give them wider circulation. That idea has long since been lost. Even such TV shows as "Home" which taught the housewife cooking and gardening and home economics have long since been superseded by shows giving away money or furniture.

Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, president of Johns Hopkins, declared on the show: "H. G. Wells once said that civilization is a race between education and catastrophe. You and I surely know which should win the race."

But, in any race between education and catasthrophe, television is not even competing any more. There are lots of races on television—for ratings, for residuals, for gimmicks to give away money, for Westerns, for violence—but not in any race to educate us. The possibilities—not years from now, but right now—are boundless but the realization is infinitesimal.

Still, it's nice that Johns Hopkins has survived ten years on television. Lynn Poole, the program's producer from the very beginning, has worked miracles in putting on a show whose budget ranged from nothing at all in the first few years to not much more than that now. The art of borrowing has been developed to a high degree, the program having borrowed everything from $250,000 in diamonds to an airplane to priceless art objects. It has explored subjects ranging from outer space to electricity, from cancer to diseases of the eye; it has been viewed by an audience which ranges from cab drivers to college professors and it has won just about all the prizes television has to offer.

Tavern License Lifted After Knifing Brawl

CHARLESTON (AP) — Beer Commissioner Roy D. Platt has suspended the license held in the name of Roy E. Oxley for the B and H Sportsman Club in Charleston.

The suspension for 50 days from Saturday midnight came on charges of illegal possession, sale and consumption of liquor on the premises; keeping and exhibiting gaming devices; and playing or betting at gaming tables.

The violations were alleged to have occurred on or about Feb. 22. Herbert P. (Babe) Barna, former major league baseball player, was listed on the beer commission docket as president of the club and Lillian Barna was listed as treasurer.

Feb. 22 was the date on which Barna was knifed at the B and H club. He was hospitalized, but has now been released.

George Goff Jr., 28, of Dunbar, was charged with felonious wounding. Police said the assault on Barna occurred at a time when several men in the club were betting on a mechanical gambling device.

Platt also disclosed these other suspensions:

James H. Atha, doing business as Four Wheel Drive, Powellton, Fayette County, 40 days effective from Saturday midnight; illegal possession and consumption of liquor and disorderly conduct.

Reason Hubert Barr, Smier's Place, Fairview, Marion County, 30 days from Saturday midnight; illegal possession and sale of liquor.

How The Budget Got Out Of Whack

Few federal budgets ever got out of kilter so quickly as the one the President submitted to Congress in January.

This budget estimated that federal revenue between July 1958 and July 1959 would total $74.4 billion, or $2 billion more than during the current fiscal year. The budgetmakers estimated revenue on the basis of a continued boom.

Scarcely had the budget been presented until unemployment figures began to rise and business profits turned leaner. Yet the fiscal seers had planned on the basis of total citizen income $9 billion higher than during the current fiscal year.

With that much revenue budgeted, officials charted a spending program of $73.9 billion, leaving a surplus of $500 million. But the highest amount of revenue in national history was $72 billion. With the boom edge off employment and business profits, the federal government may be lucky to reap $70 billion.

On the basis of projected spending, there would be a deficit of nearly $4 billion. But the spending sights are being raised almost daily. Defense Secretary McElroy is after $1.3 billion more for defense than was budgeted. The administration is reappraising its original intention to spend less for domestic projects.

No one knows what the revenues will be. But some educated guesses in Washington put the deficit for the fiscal year beginning next July 1 at from $5 to $9 billion. That would be one of the largest deficits of U. S. history. And the situation has developed only two months after a $500 million surplus was hoped for.

So much for a budget presented in January and forecasting results in a period that ends 18 months later. The budgeteers don't need adding machines. They need prophets' licenses.

A Hidden Report

Who got hurt by the unpublished annual report of the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee?

Someone must have, for the report long ago written and made ready has not yet been made available to the public. Many volumes of the hearings have appeared, but not the annual report to Congress. And without an annual report, how can Congress justify voting the Committee funds? What has the Committee done during the past year to justify an additional appropriation?

One of the matters which the report as originally written contains, according to my information, is a section on the suicide of Dr. Herbert Norman, the Canadian ambassador to Egypt. An American Congressional committee has no function examining a Canadian ambassador, but it so happens that many of Norman's activities concerned Americans and took place in association with Americans. He was on the most intimate terms with many American diplomats, particularly those who have had left wing associations.

Norman committed suicide last April in Cairo and an attempt was made by Canada's then Secretary for External Affairs, Lester Pearson, to blame that suicide upon the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee. This gave some Senators the jitters and embarrassed the State Department no end. The information at the time, however, was that a Canadian commission was about to be appointed to investigate Norman's conduct. A Canadian commission is a much tougher body than an American Congressional committee because the Fifth Amendment is unavailable to those who wish to squirm out of telling the truth. Also hearings are rarely in public and therefore the witness cannot depend upon friendly reporters to protect him from abuse, if any.

Senator Arthur Watkins of Utah, a Republican member of the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee, has, since the Norman episode, set himself up as censor of the Committee's conduct with the result that the Committee became inactive, its counsel, Robert Morris resigned and is now running for Senator in New Jersey, and the annual report has been delayed. The delay is attributed to Senator Arthur Watkins' refusal to sign the report.

The normal procedure for a Senator, when he objects to the report of a committee of which he is a member, is to prepare a dissenting report which is published simultaneously with the majority report, but when a committee has a rule that a unanimous vote is necessary for a report, one member can delay its publication, or force changes to be made in it, to get it out at all.

It may be recalled that Senator Watkins presided over the Committee which held trial over Senator Joe McCarthy and which resulted in the condemnation of Senator McCarthy. When this Committee was appointed I asked Joe McCarthy what he thought of Senator Watkins. He told me that Senator Watkins was his friend and that he expected that nothing serious would come of the hearings. He entered upon them in that spirit, but soon discovered that he had again been outfoxed by the White House crowd who had set up the various devices to oppose McCarthy. Apparently Senator Watkins is doing the same kind of a job on the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee.

This Committee has been in existence seven years. Last year, it spent more than $250,000 of the public's money, although part of that went to political appointees who do no effective work of investigation. This is a habit among Congressional committees that needs correction and is one reason why many investigations once started, are not completed. The committees run out of funds taking care of political appointees.

Also, in the year 1958, there is no political profit in the work of this Committee. The Administration does not favor disclosures of errors of judgment, say in the handling of the Hungarian revolt; the Democrats do not want historic disclosures, say of the relations between President Franklin D. Roosevelt and Communist leader, Earl Browder—disclosures which cannot longer be suppressed because the truth discloses itself in other ways. The Canadians object to disclosures which involve any of their political leaders or their businessmen who operate cartels, whether for newsprint or for whisky, in the United States. Members of Congress, in an election year, dislike controversial reports which might arouse unfavorable public opinion. They like everything to be sweet and safe.

So all-in-all, this Committee has found itself to be politically unpopular and lacking in advantage to its members, who are, after all, only politicians.

Lobbyists Work For Everything Except Children Of America

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — This town is full of lobbyists. They are a dime a dozen in the halls of Congress and the cocktail lounges of Washington. Some are out to get tax concessions for the life insurance companies. Some are out to promote more Federal housing appropriations. Some are out to block oil imports into the United States.

But none of them are out to lobby for the children of the United States.

For approximately 10 years there has been talk about passing a school bill, but only talk—no action. Chief reason for the lack of action: no lobby is pushing a school bill.

Children aren't lobbyists, and most teachers aren't either. Up until this year their National Education Association has been sitting on its heels in Washington, twiddling its intellectual thumbs without taking an energetic stand on school aid.

What they don't realize is that the big highway bill for $18 billion was passed because of lobbying by the Teamsters Union, the big tire and truck companies, the oil and gasoline companies. They combined into a lobby which Congressmen couldn't resist.

Teachers could do the same. They could get the Carpenters Union, whose members need employment, the Bricklayers Union, the other building trades, the building contractors, to combine in pushing a school construction bill.

Sen. Lyndon Johnson goaded the administration into action on a public works program. Public works are needed to end the depression, and one of the most important public works built in Roosevelt's day was school buildings.

Note — Harry Truman once said: "The public doesn't have anyone to lobby for them." Ike, however, isn't doing it in regard to schools.

"No Autograph"—Ike

It took two phone calls from the White House, plus an hour's personal call from a presidential assistant to say that President Eisenhower would not give a Congressman an autograph.

It all happened when Congressman Jack Dingell of Detroit received a request for the President's signature from Jim Ritchie in Cedar Springs, Mich.

"I don't know if you see the President or not," Ritchie wrote Dingell, "but someone told me that you received letters with the President's actual signature on them." Ritchie asked the Congressman to send him a letter signed by Ike.

The Detroit Democrat explained that members of Congress rarely, if ever, receive direct communications from the President in this administration. They got plenty from both Roosevelt and Truman.

"The letters I have received from the White House during the present administration have all been signed by one of the President's assistants," Dingell wrote. But he said he would send Ritchie's letter to the White House with a request that an autograph be supplied.

At the White House, Dingell's request produced a flurry of activity and after about 10 days a formal reply from a presidential aide, Jack Z. Anderson.

"I am sure he (Ritchie) will realize that if the President did this in response to every request he would have little time left for the more serious business of running the government," Anderson wrote.

On February 28 Dingell reported this to his constituent.

"I have received two calls from members of the White House staff and a personal visit from Mr. Jack Anderson, administrative assistant to the President," wrote Dingell. "Mr. Anderson is an old friend of mine, and a most personable and decent gentleman. He spent the better part of an hour explaining to me that if your request were acceded to, every other citizen would have a right to the presidential autograph.

"I assume that this is the President's position and must confess that I am somewhat astonished at the trouble they went to to avoid getting the President to comply with your request.

"It appears, in view of the amount of time and taxpayers' money spent to avoid giving you a presidential autograph, that it would have been much cheaper and easier for the President to pause at the first tee long enough to sign a card to be sent to you."

Smart Attorney General

It's beginning to down on members of the Harris investigating committee that handsome young Attorney General Bill Rogers may have outsmarted them. Bill is a past master at investigating. He trained first under Tom Dewey when Tom was a young crime-buster. Later, in Washington, Rogers investigated Maj. Gen. Harry Vaughan, John Maragon, and various influence-wielders. In those days he was smart enough to be hired by Democrats even though investigating Democrats.

Today as Attorney General, Rogers has called a grand jury to probe scandals in the independent agencies—which was his duty. But in doing his duty, he may have also saved some of his friends around the White House such as Sherman Adams from embarrassing testimony before the Harris committee.

For a grand jury has precedence over a Congressional committee, and courts have also held that testimony taken by a Congressional committee cannot be used, constitutionally, in a subsequent criminal prosecution.

Therefore, Thurman Whiteside, the alleged Miami "fixer," had the law behind him when he refused to appear before the Harris committee because he was to appear before the grand jury.

Moral: It's a smart attorney general who not only does his duty but simultaneously saves the administration embarrassment.

Taking A Sensible Look At Unemployment Figures

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—It is important to put the unemployment figures in perspective. Thus, while the actual number now out of work is as large as in 1941, it was then 10 per cent of the total labor force but is only 6.7 per cent of the nation's labor force today. This latter percentage figure is the same as it was in 1949, during the Truman Administration, just prior to the Korean War.

The truly significant figure on unemployment is not the approximately 5,200,000 just announced by the U. S. Department of Labor, but the amount of the increase over 1956, which in many respects was a normal year. For there were 2,800,000 unemployed in March 1956, and these are the people who normally "float" from job to job or are temporarily idle or who work when the spirit moves them.

The net increase above the 1956 "float" is about 2,400,000. Where are these people located? How would more defense contracts allocated to a full-employmen. area do any good in other sections of the country where factories are shut down? People just don't give up their homes and nearness to relatives and move to other cities and towns to get new jobs. How could a tax cut, which puts more money in the pockets of those already working, do anything for those who are out of jobs and are not paying any taxes at all?

These are the searching questions that must be asked when every one of the proposed remedies of an anti-recession nature is examined.

For the fact is that unemployment is highest in the automobile centers and in the cities and towns where machinery and plant equipment are customarily manufactured. The Department of Labor itself announces that the increase in unemployment has occurred in automobiles, aircraft, metals, and machinery plants. The latest government figures show an estimated drop of 13 per cent in the amount of business to be done in building new plants and equipment in 1958 as compared with last year. This is a sizable reduction.

One plausible answer to the situation is that, if people would begin to buy autos again, it would help the heavy-goods industries. But this is related to the inventory or accumulated surplus of cars already in dealers' hands. Sooner or later this backlog of cars will be considerably reduced by an increase in sales, but it takes time for that to happen.

It is argued that a tax cut will induce more buying. But experience in past recessions does not bear that out. Thus, in 1948 there was a tax cut but it did not prevent the 1949 recession.

A tax cut could result in more purchases of groceries and what are called consumer items but, unless public confidence in the employment situation as a whole is restored, the tax-cut remedy will not be immediately effective.

This is but another way of saying that, when any tax-reduction plan is voted by Congress, it must be of the kind that will persuade the economists generally and businessmen as a whole that a healthy step has been taken. If there were an across-the-board cut, as advocated the other day by Vice President Nixon, it would do more to encourage businessmen to hire additional persons than if the tax cut were limited to those in the lower brackets. Any "redisribution of wealth" doctrine of the latter type looks well on the surface to some politicians, but it failed to bring recovery in the 1930s and has never been looked upon as a sound device.

The importance of the "across the board" theory is that it gives businessmen an incentive to expand and to make purchases of new plant and equipment. There can be no doubt that psychological factors are the most important of all today. People are hesitant to buy things they need because of a fear of unemployment. While this is true of individuals, it is even more noticeable in businesses, which fear a continued lack of new orders and are drastically curtailing expenses.

The government can do a great deal to improve the psychology of the people as a whole and to encourage a buying mood. But, despite all the professions of concern among the politicians on capitol hill, there has been no program offered as yet which would this month or next month bring re-employment to the 2,400,000 unemployment above the normal "float." Authorizing more public works is helpful to a certain extent, but it takes time to draw plans, get bids and allocate contracts. Much more important, for instance, is what the government itself is doing right now in buying automobiles and trucks it didn't purchase when the so-called "economy" way was sweeping the Defense Department and other governmental departments during the year 1957.

A recovery program is bound to be developed by the President and Congress as more and more unpleasant news breaks on the economic front in the next few weeks. The unemployment figure could go to 6,000,000 without being as high in proportion as the 10 per cent of the total labor force which was out of work in 1941.

The most important step of all is to convince people generally that a recovery is inevitable and that it is a matter of months and not years. Such a sentiment may be fully crystallized before autumn comes.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Teacher took a class of New York children to the Bronx Zoo yesterday and that's what's wrong with 'em.

New York school kids are taken to museums, City Hall, Wall Street, Tammany Hall, bus terminals, planetariums, hotel lobbies and dog shows. And mamma packs picnic lunches for gang fights.

When I was a kid in Philadelphia we went to Independence Hall, Ben Franklin's grave, the Betsy Ross House, the Liberty Bell, William Penn's House on Letitia Street, Valley Forge and the First Continental Congress.

We were so patriotic we had tri-colored measles. The only boy who carried a knife used it to make models of the Bon Homme Richard.

There wasn't any radio, movies, long playing records and television. But the kids from Philadelphia are now running all those gimmicks.

They say as the twig is bent the tree will incline. If that's so we should have big pretzel orchards.

Every kid in America should visit Philadelphia and see the Liberty Bell. You can touch it now.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

Out there are the mountains. I cannot see them, but they are there. The City of San Francisco climbs them in the night, the big headlight swinging back and forth, the 15 silvery Pullmans twisting and creaking, the clicks on the rail in slower rhythm, the tall green pines walking past like shocked apostrophes. The compartment in Car 1026 is bright and quiet. We are eastbound out of Truckee.

The water in the pitcher tilts this way, then that. The old Pullman porter stands in the corridor, looking out. There is nothing to see. He waits for the two-tone bell to summon him to make up beds. He is tired. The three fat ladies in Compartment D are not. They play canasta and they talk loudly. Their men are in E, drinking scotch and patting their bellies and talking American Can and Owens Illinois and GM. They do not want to be with the women. The honeymoon is over. Now they look forward to a good meal. Or the next scotch. Like the women, they must talk or they die.

I use this time for meditation. Not for real meditation. It's a wandering mind. Being alone is good. In an hour, I will be thunk out and I will creep into this jiggling joggling trampoline which the Southern Pacific calls a bed. I will be up promptly at 10 and if it is too late for breakfast—well, sorry for them.

What do I think about? A variety of things. I think about the 7,000 miles I have just covered by train, by Convair, by car. It was a good trip. I was paid to look at my team, the San Francisco Giants, nee McGraw's Muggs. They look good. More important, they think that they owe it to San Francisco to win a pennant the first year.

I think about Gayle. She goes to confession every Saturday night and receives communion on Sunday for her mother and, just before I left home, she came out of confession saying, "Whew!" I asked her what sin was worth all that. She said that she had to confess that she had referred to our pastor, one of the finest priests in the country, as "Smiley." "Great," I said sarcastically, "who was hearing confessions?" She gulped:

"Smiley," she said.

I think of Ginny, my all time girl, phoning me in Phoenix to say that, for the first time in years, the Shrewsbury River behind our house was frozen clear to the far shore. "What are you doing, Daddy?" she said. "Going swimming," I said. Ginny wasn't jealous. She babys me.

One of the things I dwell on is the recession. I'd like to see it. In the past two weeks I've been in New York, Chicago, El Paso, Phoenix, Los Angeles, San Francisco. The factory smoke is thick and black. The winter crops stretch from horizon to horizon. The steers stand stupidly in the sun, the jaws working slowly on grass. The freight trains stretch for miles, the swaying cars heavy with food and machinery and the products of thousands of industries.

At whistle time, the highways are jammed with cars of working men, bumper to bumper. The nightclubs are crowded. The restaurants have ropes up. The hotels, the motels, the driveins are at capacity. Where, oh where, is that topic of conversation?

I think of Eddie Brannick telling about the time Don Newcombe couldn't find a house at Vero Beach and a real estate agent kept trying and finally found one. Don was ready to sign. "You'll be happy here," he said. "The beach is right out front and Jackie Robinson lives next door."

Newcombe threw up one hand. "Hold the phone," he said. "Bad enough that guy keeps walking across the infield to tell me how to pitch. I ain't having him walking next door to tell me how to live. The deal's off."

Another Jack comes to mind—Webb. At Republic Studios in the San Fernando Valley he has the perfect bachelor's hideaway. It is tastefully done in dark wood and he has built-in hi-fi and his Dragnet office downstairs. The only flaw in this bachelor's life is that he has trouble remaining one.

I'm beginning to like being alone. I travel alone. Except for Gayle and the maid, I live alone. At night, all lights are friendly. I meet many people and I like many people. If I want to bowl, or shoot pool, or drive up to New York to see a show, or sit up all night writing, who stands up on her mind legs to roar "No!"?

Nobody. Disgusting, isn't it?

Reducing The Number Of Premature Births

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The modern physician is turning his attention toward the prevention of prematurity. This is a logical approach to the problem and will go further than devising better ways of caring for the premie. There is no better place for an undeveloped infant than in the mother's uterus. Nature wants these little tykes to remain there for approximately 280 days, and the earlier they are delivered, the less likely they are to survive.

Statistics show that up to five per cent of premature babies weighing between four pounds six ounces and five pounds eight ounces fail to make the grade. The death rate increases to 20 per cent when birth weight is between three pounds five ounces and four pounds six ounces; and to 50 per cent in those between two pounds four ounces and three pounds five ounces. The mortality rate is almost 85 per cent in infants weighing less than 2 pounds four ounces.

This demonstrates that the longer the pregnancy continues, the safer it is for the baby. What can be done to lessen the chance of going into labor a month or two early? Some clues can be obtained from the observation that prematurity is two and one half times more frequent among women in the poorer socioeconomic bracket.

This suggests that diet may play a role. Some studies indicate that improvement occurs when proteins, vitamins, and minerals are included in a well balanced diet.

Women who gain too much or too little weight may deliver prematurely.

Prenatal care is vital in detecting and treating complications that encourage prematurity. This means that the woman who consults her obstetrician periodically has a better chance. Should signs of premature labor occur, the woman is put to bed and given a suitable sedative. Medications containing progesterone (Norlutin) also are of value in discouraging early labor. But, regardless of what is done, premature births will continue until all the causes of the condition are known and treatments become available.

SORE HIP

J. Z. writes: I have a sore hip that makes me limp. Is this due to rheumatism?

REPLY

Arthritis is the usual cause but Legg-Perthes disease is another possibility. In this condition, a small segment of the joint surface erodes, leaving a rough and irritated area. Sometimes distress stems from strain associated with poor posture or one leg shorter than the other. But why guess? See your physician and have X-rays.

ADRENAL DISORDER

C. T. writes: Does cortisone cure Addison's disease or just control it?

REPLY

Steroids of this type keep this disease of the adrenal glands under control.

THYROID AND THE HEART

S. D. writes: Could the use of thyroid extract cause the heart to beat fast?

REPLY

Yes. Thyroid increases metabolism in general and this steps up the heart beat.

BROWN SPOTS

C. D. writes: Is it natural for the fair skinned to develop brown spots on the face, arms, and hands after age 50?

REPLY

Yes. The same applies to persons with darker skin but the lesions are less noticable when much natural pigment is present.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

A precise professor of English explains his method for teaching oratory: "I start each student off by making him talk with a mouthful of marbles. Every day he shows satisfactory progress, I allow him to take one marble out of his mouth. When he's lost all his marbles he's a fully qualified public speaker!"

John D. Rockefeller Jr., was hurrying to a directors' meeting in New Jersey one day when he was nabbed for speeding. "Let's see your license," demanded the cop. When he saw the name on same he gave a low whistle. "Zowie!" he exclaimed. "Looks like this time we've really hit the jackpot."

One of the troubles of the day, observes Mrs. C. N. Peace, is that once we came upon the little red schoolhouse, whereas now we come upon the little read schoolboy.

Streets Washed Following Snow

MOOREFIELD, W. Va. — The Town of Moorefield cleaned and washed down Main Street over the weekend. A crew of workmen and the town truck scraped and swept the winter's accumulation of mud and dirt Thursday and Friday and late Friday night hosed down Main Street.

Rep. Staggers Seeks Re-Election

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Staggers (D-WVa) Thursday stopped speculation that he might run for the Senate by announcing he will seek reelection to the House.

Staggers had been mentioned as a possible candidate for the unexpired term of the late Sen. Neely, Democrat.

Another West Virginia member of the House, Rep. Bailey, Democrat, announced some weeks ago he had decided against running for the Senate seat. He said he would seek reelection to the House instead.

Bank Reduces Interest Rate

ROMNEY—Roy L. Day, secretary-treasurer of the Potomac Valley National Farm Loan Association, announced that the interest rate on new loans made through the association has been reduced from 6 to 5½ per cent. The local association represents the Federal Land Bank of Baltimore in making long-term loans to farmers in Allegany, Garrett, Grant, Hampshire, Hardy, Mineral and Pendleton counties.

Day explained that last fall, when the Land Bank had to pay such a high rate for its lending funds, it began to charge 6 per cent on new loans, but now that money is available to the bank at lower rates, it has reduced its charges to farmers.

The 5½ per cent rate was made retroactive, Day said, so that farmers who obtained 6 per cent loans will have to pay only 5½ per cent interest from the date their loans were made. He pointed out that the Federal Land Banks and the National Farm Loan Associations serve farmers with mortgage credit at as low a cost as possible, consistent with sound financial practices. He said it is not likely that a lender other than a cooperative would reduce interest rates on loans already on its books.

Ill At Home

PIEDMONT — Mrs. Mary M. Pence, 86 West Harrison Street, continues ill at her home.

Frostburg Pythian Sisters Launch Observance Plans

Cleo Henry, most excellent chief of Calanthe Temple No. 3, Pythian Sisters, Governor Theodore R. McKeldin has again this year issued a proclamation designating the week of March 16 through 22 as "Pythian Week" in Maryland.

Mayor Joseph James after conferring with a representative group of the local lodge issued a proclamation in Frostburg setting the same dates for "Pythian Week" observance by the local group. The program will include special meetings and attending church as a group.

Mayor James' proclamation stated that the "Knights of Pythia has grown from a humble beginning to one of the great fraternal organizations of the United States with the Golden Rule as their motto, and such key words as 'Friendship,' 'Charity' and 'Benevolence' as their guiding stars, the Knights of Pythia and the Pythian Sisters have created within their membership, service of the highest type to God and Country, and especially the promotion of patriotism and true brotherhood, so sadly needed in the world of today."

Meat Spread Tops With Small Fry

How often do you open the back door of your house at 3 PM to be greeted by one or two hungry youngsters home from school?

"What do you have to eat, Mom?" A very familiar request from the young scholars but also a very easy one to fill.

Be sure to have some homemade Liver-Bacon Spread in the refrigerator. Serve with either crackers or bread and a glass of milk and the youngsters will be ready for an hour or two of play before dinner. Remember, keep the snack light so the children will still have an appetite for dinner.

This Liver-Bacon Spread has a way of spelling success in the field of kitchen concoctions especially when it receives the seal of approval from the children.

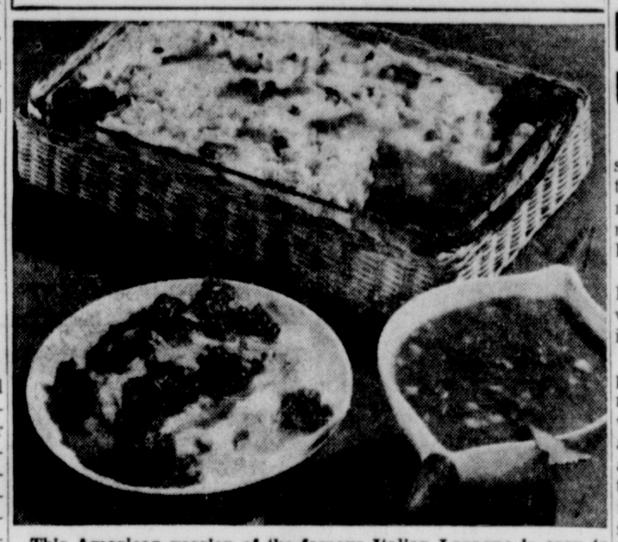

When preparing the liver for this spread, first lightly brown the liver in lard or drippings before putting it through the food chopper.

Liver And Bacon Spread

- 4 slices bacon
- 1 pound thinly sliced beef or veal liver
- ½ cup chopped celery
- 1 teaspoon minced onion
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 tablespoon pickle relish
- ½ cup mayonnaise

Chop bacon and cook until crisp. Remove bacon. Trim membrane from liver. Cook liver slowly in bacon drippings, turning occasionally, about 5 minutes. Put liver through food chopper. Combine bacon, liver, celery, salt, pickle relish and mayonnaise. Mix well. Yield: 2 cups.

AN ITALIAN FAVORITE

This American version of the famous Italian Lasagne is easy to make. Try it for a Friday night dinner; made without meat, it will make an unusual Lenten meal.

Lasagne, like spaghetti, is a famous Italian dish now popular in the United States. It takes its name from the long, thin, ruffled noodles which make its base. The lasagne noodles are combined with two or more Italian cheeses, usually Mozzarella or Ricotta, and a spicy sauce to make an unusually delicious entree.

For our version of this dish, we have substituted wide noodles and a combination of American or Swiss, and cottage cheeses. The sauce is cooked separately and served piping hot over the squares of baked noodle and cheese mixture. As with many Italian dishes lasagne is almost a meal in itself. The addition of a large green salad with an Italian-style oil and vinegar dressing, garlic-buttered bread, spumoni and cafe au lait will complete a mouth-watering meal. Try it soon, and "bon appetito!"

LASAGNE

Casserole:

- 8 ounces lasagne or wide noodles
- 2 cups cottage cheese
- ¼ cup chopped green pepper
- 2 tablespoons chopped onion
- 3 eggs
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon dry mustard
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- 2 cups milk
- 1 pound sliced processed American or Swiss or Mozzarella cheese

Sauce:

- ¼ cup butter
- ½ cup chopped green or dried onions
- ¼ cup chopped green peppers
- ¼ cup flour
- 1 No. 2½ can (3½ cups) tomatoes
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon oregano
- Dash of garlic salt (optional)

Cook noodles until tender in boiling salted water. Drain. Blend together cottage cheese, green pepper, and onion. Combine eggs, salt, mustard and pepper and beat with fork. Add milk. Spread ½ of noodles over bottom of buttered oblong baking dish (13 x 9 x 2 inches) and cover with ½ of cheese slices. Spread with ½ of cottage cheese mixture. Spread ½ of remaining cheese slices over this and cover with remaining noodles. Arrange remaining cheese slices and cottage cheese mixture over top. Drizzle egg-milk mixture over all. Set in pan of hot water. Bake in a moderate oven, 350°, until mixture has set and top has browned, about 1½ hours. To make sauce melt butter in skillet; add onions and green pepper and cook until tender. Blend in flour, stir in tomatoes and cook slowly, stirring constantly until sauce has thickened slightly. Blend in seasonings. Serve over squares of casserole. Makes 6-8 servings.

Spiced Short Ribs Spruce Up Meals

If you're looking for a robustly seasoned short rib recipe to give the men in your household a mealtime treat, simply take a minute and read this recipe for Barbecued Short Ribs.

It's a meal prepared to please. It means mealtime excitement when this delicious beef selection is set before the family.

Remember the importance in preparing beef short ribs. Short ribs are a less tender meat cut with alternating layers of fat and lean. Being less tender, they are cooked by a moist heat method of meat cookery . . . braising. The short ribs are first slowly cooked for about 2 to 2½ hours or until tender. Then the ribs are placed on a rack in a broiling pan, brushed with the barbecue sauce and broiled for about 5 minutes on the first side. The short ribs are then turned, brushed again and broiled 2 to 3 minutes on the second side.

Barbecued Short Ribs

- 3 pounds beef short ribs
- ½ cup water
- ½ cup catchup
- ¼ cup finely chopped onion
- 2 tablespoons vinegar
- 2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
- 1 tablespoon honey
- 2 teaspoons prepared mustard

Add water to meat. Cover tightly and cook slowly for 2 to 2½ hours, or until tender. Combine catchup, onion, vinegar, Worcestershire sauce, honey and mustard for barbecue sauce. When short ribs are tender, remove from liquid and place on a rack in broiling pan. Set regulator for broiling. Brush short ribs with the barbecue sauce. Insert broiler pan and rack so the top of the meat is 3 to 4 inches from heat. Broil about 5 minutes. When first side is browned, turn and brush second side with remaining sauce. Continue broiling second side 2 to 3 minutes. Yield: 4 servings.

Croquette Capers

Meat croquettes served with a rich cream sauce and tender peas always receive top billing. But for variety, who not vary the sauce . . . brown gravy, tomato sauce and mushroom sauce are equally as good.

Snap With Bacon

To add distinction to a serving platter of a breakfast entree, serve bacon curls. To prepare, loosely roll strips or half strips of bacon and fasten with wooden picks. Panbroil bacon curls the same as bacon strips.

Keep Slim With Sherry

Worrying about your waistline? The most glamorous way to keep slim is to stick to dry Spanish sherry when others are imbibing highballs. A 3½ ounce glass of fino (very dry) Spanish sherry has only 90 calories compared with 150 to 200 calories in each highball of whiskey or other hard liquor. Amontillado sherry, also a dry type but with a nuttier flavor, has approximately 100 calories. If the fino alone is too dry for your taste, try blending it with amontillado, in any proportion that appeals to you. Or drink sherry on the rocks or with soda for a tall drink. It's a chic thing to do.

Cubes For Stews

Beef, veal or lamb are often used in stews. When using veal for a stew, the meat may be cut from any one of the following places . . . neck, breast, shoulder or flank. Being less tender, the meat is naturally cooked by a moist heat method of meat cookery.

Instant Flan

The most popular of all Spanish desserts is Flan, a custard made with sherry, egg yolks and sugar. But a quick, easy version of Flan can be made with instant vanilla pudding, using ¼ cup Spanish sherry, an oloroso or cream type, for part of the liquid, replacing the same amount of milk. Serve this in your best sherbet glasses accompanied by glasses of oloroso sherry for a superb spur-of-the minute dessert.

Sherry Cheese Dip

With more and more hostesses offering Spanish sherry to their guests at cocktail parties these days, the question arises as to what appetizers are best to accompany sherry. Cheese is always good, and a wonderful cheese dip can be made by adding fino sherry to soft cheddar cheese, beating with a fork until the consistency of thick cream. Use about ⅛ cup sherry to ¼ pound cheese. This makes a quick and easy "dunk" for crackers or crisp vegetable relishes. For a heartier snack, dip chunks of Italian bread or pumpernickel into the cheese. Especially good with glasses of very dry fino sherry.

Meal That Satisfies

How often do you serve plump, juicy pork sausage links for dinner? Both the chief cook and the family will enjoy a hearty Saturday night supper built around pork sausage links and baked beans. A crisp salad, hard rolls, beverage and dessert are all you need to accompany this meal.

Meat Cookery Guide

In general, tender meat cuts are best cooked by dry heat methods—roasting, broiling, and panbroiling. Less tender meat cuts are made tender by a moist heat method of meat cookery—braising or cooking meat in liquid.

Toast Quiks

Hot, inviting waffled sandwiches are as quick and easy to prepare as they are good to eat. The delightful flavor and aroma of sandwiches grilled in a waffle baker can also be captured and held for impromptu entertaining by freezing them. Prepare a two-week supply. Cool, wrap individuall, in moisture-vapor proof paper, label and store in the freezer.

When you need sandwiches in a hurry, remove them from the freezer, unwrap and pop into the toaster. Toast twice for piping hot sandwiches. To take care of a crowd, arrange frozen sandwiches in a shallow pan and heat in a moderate oven (350° F.) for five minutes, or until hot.

Fillings that lend themselves to this jiffy-time idea include grated Bleu or process cheese, cooked egg yolk and peanut butter. Cooked or canned meat and chicken, either sliced or chopped, and fish, too, are also satisfactory.

Olive-Cheese Toast Quik

1 cup grated process American cheese
¼ cup chopped ripe olives
2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
2 teaspoons prepared mustard
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon finely grated onion
½ cup soft butter or margarine
12 slices enriched bread

Combine cheese, olives, pimiento, mustard, salt and onion. Butter bread. Spread each of 6 slices of buttered bread with 2 tablespoons olive-cheese filling. Finish with a matching slice of bread. Butter outside of each sandwich. Place sandwiches in a preheated waffle baker and grill until light brown. Makes 6 Olive-Cheese Toast Quiks.

Tuna Toast Quik

½ cup tuna, flaked
2 tablespoons chopped celery
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
2 tablespoons sweet pickle relish
2 tablespoons mayonnaise or salad dressing
½ cup soft butter or margarine
12 slices enriched bread

Combine tuna, celery, green pepper, pickle relish and mayonnaise. Butter bread. Spread each of 6 slices of buttered bread with 2 tablespoons tuna salad filling. Finish with a matching slice of bread. Butter outside of each sandwich. Place sandwiches in a preheated waffle baker and grill until light brown. Makes 6 Tuna Toast Quiks.

"Toast" Points

—Toasting converts some of the starch of bread into simpler carbohydrates and removes some of the moisture. Attractive, crunchy hot toast has the same caloric value as untoasted bread—60 calories per one-half inch slice.

—For the best toast, use bread at least 24 hours old, and serve it piping hot.

—Frozen bread slices may be put into the toaster for immediate toasting. They require a few extra seconds toasting time.

—Hot toast should never be stacked. If it must be held for a few minutes, arrange toast slices on a rack and place in a warm oven until served.

—For distinctive toast service, arrange triangular slices of toast on a folded napkin on a hot plate, slightly over-lapping them. The napkin will absorb the steam from the hot toast and keep it crisp.

—Trim edges of bread after toasting. Cut into desired shapes. Cookie cutters can be used to fashion the base for canapes or to dress up casserole dishes.

—Cube leftover toast to make croutons for soups and salads.

A squeaky floor can sometimes be cured by pounding on a padded wood block over the trouble spot.

Rice And Cheese Lenten Palates Please

Rice and Cheese will please Lenten meal planners. Cheese is an economical way to step-up protein and calcium in diets. And, the vegetable protein of rice places it high on the lists of energy foods. When combined, these two foods lend themselves to endless variations which will prove pleasing to discriminating palates.

During the past three years the steady supply of Cheddar cheese from production to storage has kept retail prices from varying. You are quite likely to pay about the same price during this year of 1958 as during the three years just past. With cheese in good supply at economical prices and with rice too in good supply, these foods are especially suitable to the planning of meatless Lenten meals. Rice and cheese will please your purse, too. Here's a tasty Lenten main dish which needs only a mixed green salad and piping hot biscuits to complete a perfect menu pattern.

Rice and Cheese

(Makes 6 to 8 servings)

3 cups cooked rice
2 cups (two 8-oz. cans) meatless spaghetti sauce
1 cup Dairy Sour Cream
1 cup (7-oz. can) flaked tuna fish
1-1/2 teaspoons chili powder
1/4 teaspoon garlic salt
1 (8-oz.) package Borden's Vera-Sharp Cheese Slices

Preheat skillet to 350° F. Combine rice, spaghetti sauce, sour cream, tuna fish and seasonings in skillet. Cook, stirring occasionally, until mixture begins to boil (or until thoroughly heated). Reduce temperature to 210° F. Cut cheese slices lengthwise into strips. Arrange over mixture in skillet. Simmer until cheese is melted. Hold at this temperature to serve.

Spanish Sherry Perks Up Meatless Meal

A simple meal with a cheese dish or an omelet for the main course can seem quite exciting if you serve glasses of a very dry or fino Spanish sherry along with it. Omelets, especially, seem to take on extra flavor when accompanied by a fino sherry. Add green salad and crusty bread to complete a fine repast. Wickedly black coffee is the perfect closing signature. Very continental

Emerald Fluff For St. Patrick's Day

'Tis the luck of the Irish, sure enough, we have with our St. Patrick's Day Dessert special—Emerald Fluff — for calorie counters. Made with nutritious nonfat dry milk and low-calorie lime-flavored gelatin, this colorful dessert is only about 27 calories per serving.

You can have this low calorie dessert for any season of the year by choosing a different mold shape. Of course, for St. Patrick's Day, the Shamrock mold is perfect.

Instant nonfat dry milk is whipped and combined with the lime gelatin, and also additional whipped instant nonfat dry milk can be served with this dessert at a cost of only about 8 calories per tablespoon. Instant nonfat dry milk is a versatile product, and can be used as one uses milk—for drinking, cooking and baking.

"The heart of milk", instant nonfat dry milk is top-quality pasteurized milk with only the fat and water removed, and so it is a rich source of milk's important nutrients — protein, calcium and riboflavin. It is extremely economical. The family-size package makes 12 quarts of nonfat milk for as little as eight cents a quart.

And now for our Emerald Fluff dessert and our basic whipped topping recipe.

Milk Rules Are Explained

Maryland's new milk regulations were explained to officials of this area's dairy industry at a meeting held here yesterday by the Allegany County Health Department.

C. S. Brinsfield, chief of the food control section of the State Health Department, outlined the rules at the fifth annual milk plant conference held in the Union Street county building.

Among the speakers were Henry Albert, head of milk control for the Pittsburgh Health Department, who explained what Allegheny County, Pa., expects from dairy farms which ship into that milkshed, and A. L. Breuckner, director of the Maryland State Board of Agriculture, who discussed the importance of Bang and TB testing.

One of the world's worst volcano tragedies was the frightful eruption of Mount Pelee on Martinique in 1902. Some 28 thousand persons were killed.

Jury Recommends No Action In Highway Death

A Bedford County coroner's jury recommended that no one be held for action of the grand jury in the death of John Finnegan, 23, of Imler, Pa., who was struck by an automobile on Route 30 near Bedford.

The jury met last night at the county court house and found that the victim died as the result of injuries sustained when he was struck by a car operated by John Dawson of Hyndman, Pa.

Mr. Finnegan was lying across the highway after he had been knocked down in a fist fight. A group of six or seven other men at the scene had attempted to get him off the road when Dawson's car approached, but the victim was struck before he could be moved.

The driver testified he did not see Finnegan lying in the road in time to prevent the accident.

Because they have no firearms, natives of the Marquesas islands in the Pacific harpoon wild cattle for food.

Estate Planning Is Explained

Any man who wisely plans his estate will save his survivors thousands of dollars.

That view was expressed yesterday to the Cumberland Kiwanis Club by Hugh D. Shires, vice president and trust officer of the First National Bank.

He offered a vivid illustration of the decreased value of maney today. He pointed out that to match Babe Ruth's top salary of $80,000 received in 1931, Mickey Mantle would need to receive $411,000 a year.

The man who makes a simple will leaving all of his estate to his wife will not prove as good a provider as the man with estate planning, Mr. Shires said.

The most brilliant desert sunsets are those seen when there are broken translucent clouds in the west.

Great Britain's population has increased more than four and one-half million in the past 25 years.

Air Force Adopts Career Area Plan For Recruits

The Air Force, according to information received by local recruiters, is now classifying applicants for enlistment entirely upon a basis of aptitude and experience for placement in important technical fields.

Recruits, according to M/Sgt. James Owen, recruiter in charge, are encouraged to enter fields or career areas for which they test as best suited. For extmple, men making a score of 80 or better are qualified for work on radar and radio systems, atomic weapons, guided missiles, intelligence, weather forecasting, finance and accounting, and other administrative work.

Men who score around 60 can qualify for photo equipment maintenance, rocket propulsion, munitions and weapons mechanics, gas generator operators, air traffic control, information, education and training areas, special investigations service, medical service, machine accounting, chaplain assistants, personnel work and radio operator.

As a score drops, career areas are designed to make the best use of each individual's particular abilities, Sgt. Owen said. He explained that there are about 40 other specific career areas open to qualified recruits.

Sgt. Owens emphasized, however, that Air Force careers are becoming more technical all the time and all young men and women interested in joining the service should first finish high school and take such subjects as will best prepare them for their service activities.

Seven men recently were enlisted here. Five of these are men with prior service.

T/Sgt. John F. Hale, 506 Warren Street, re-enlisted for four years and was assigned to Snelling Air Force Station, Minn. He is an aircraft control and warning supervisor.

S/Sgt. Melvin L. Turben, RFD 1, Frostburg, re-enlisted for six years and was assigned to MacDill Air Force Base, Fla., as a reciprocating engine mechanic supervisor. He served four years previously.

A/1C Robert R. Hyatt, Hyndman, Pa., a Navy veteran, enlisted for four years and was sent to Lackland Air Force Base for classification and assignment, after a 15-day refresher course there.

A/3C Raymond T. Swach, 411 Washington Street, who just completed a six-month tour with the Army, enlisted for four years and was assigned to Lackland for a refresher course and assignment.

A/3C Kenneth L. Swanger, Virginia Avenue, an Army veteran, enlisted for four years and went to Lackland for classification.

Fred McClintock, Bedford, Pa., qualified for Aviation Cadet School as a navigator and is waiting for class assignment while taking his basic training at Lackland.

Eugene J. Helmstetter, Cash Valley Road, enlisted for four years and is taking his basic at Lackland.

Sgt. Owen said that recruiters are now beginning to process men and women who will graduate from high school in June, and suggests that those contemplating enlistment after graduation get on a priority list before local quotas are filled.

Snow Halts Big Convoy

ELKINS (AP) — A severe snow and sleet storm Thursday sidelined a convoy of 78 heavy-duty vehicles bought by the Road Commission from the Army.

The convoy ran into the storm along U. S. 33 and a halt was ralled at Harman, 24 miles east of here. Driving conditions were becoming hazardous and there remained one more mountain to cross between Harman and the convoy's destination at Buckhannon, 55 miles away.

The vehicles — 31 cargo varriers, a tractor - trailer, 40 jeeps and six tank trucks — were parked along the highway. State Police cars and other vehicles took the Road Commission drivers to Buckhannon. The Road Commission said the temporarily abandoned vehicles would have to stay where they were until the weather clears.

The convoy left the Army's Letterkenny Ordnance Depot near Chambersburg, Pa., early Wednesday. It traveled via Hagerstown, Md., and Winchester, Va., to Romney, where it stopped overnight.

The vehicles, all Army surplus, were bought by the state for $49,489. Road Commissioner Patrick C. Graney said most of them had been driven less than 20 miles before the purchase and their original cost was $494,890.

They are headed for the commission's equipment division headquarters at Buckhannon.

To Meet Tonight

The meeting of the Women of the Moose 914, cancelled because of weather last night, will be held tonight at the Moose home.

Turnbull Raps Halpine For Crack At Solons

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The legislative temper was stirred only once during Thursday's special session of the General Assembly.

Senate Majority Leader Turnbull (D-Balto County) took the state superintendent of buildings and grounds to task for publicly criticizing the Legislature's overtime deliberations.

Superintendent C. Greham Halpine, a Republican, is a candidate for House of Delegates nomination in Anne Arundel County. He and four other candidates issued a statement calling the extended session a "spectacle which was costly to taxpayers" and said "we can do better than that."

Turnbull noting that Halpine is on the state's payroll, said: "If that gentleman thinks he can do a better job of saving the taxpayers' money, I wonder why he submitted a budget which needed considerable slashing. . . .

"In the 10 years I have been here he could have saved $5,000 in heating bills. The offices are heated up like turkish baths. When it's cold outside, it's hot inside. When it's hot outside, it's hotter inside. Right now, he's got me hot both inside and outside.

Turnbull said that on behalf of the Senate and the House he "resented" the remarks.

Man Is Fined In Larceny Case

A young Baltimore and Ohio Railroad employe received a suspended six-months sentence to the Maryland House of Correction and was fined $25 and costs yesterday in Trial Magistrates Court after pleading guilty to the theft of goods belonging to the railroad company and valued at more than $75.

Assistant State's Atttorney Donald W. Mason said Robert B. Harper, 814 Stewart Avenue, was working as a car cleaner for the B&O and has been taking various items from the railroad cars, including a metal chair and table.

All of the stolen items were recovered by authorities at the Harper home, he added.

Magistrate Morris Baron heard the case.

Girl Is Missing, Police Are Told

A 17-year-old girl, employed at the Strand Theatre, has been reported missing since Wednesday, city police said yesterday. Angela Bingaman, 513 North Centre Street, did not come home from work Tuesday night, her mother, Mrs. Irene Bingaman, told authorities.

She is described as five feet, eight inches tall, weighs 125 pounds, has light brown hair, and was wearing a full-length blue coat, black jersey blouse, blue checked skirt.

Couple Is Injured When Car Hits Bus

A North Centre Street couple were injured when their automobile skidded into a bus on Route 30 near Corriganville yesterday about 6:15 p. m.

Edison Hibb, 63, and his wife, Elmera, 56, of 517 North Centre Street, were treated at Sacred Heart Hospital where they were taken by Corriganville Volunteer Fire Company ambulance.

Mr. Hibb sustained a lip laceration when he was thrown against the steering wheel of his car and also had several front teeth knocked out. His wife suffered a bruise on her forehead and was shaken up when she was thrown against the dash.

State Police Trooper Willis Foreman is investigating the accident.

Passengers on the bus, which also skidded on the snow-covered highway, apparently were unhurt.

Simmons Requests Immediate Trial

Wilfred Carl Simmons, 37-year-old man being held on $10,000 bond for aggravated assault and mayhem, has petitioned for an immediate trial, State's Attorney James S. Getty said yesterday.

The man, charged with slashing Mrs. Helen Steiner, 51, at his Marion Street apartment on February 1.

Mr. Getty said Simmons will be given a psychiatric examination today before the state files formal charges by criminal information in answer to the petition .

Art Show Entry Deadline Extended

Because of the bad weather yesterday and last night, the deadline for submitting entries in the annual Tri-State Creative Art Exhibit has been extended until 6 p. m. today, according to Mrs. Rudolph Steinberger, exhibit chairman.

Originally the deadline was set for 9 o'clock last night but was extended because many prospective exhibitors were unable to get to the Cumberland Free Public Library. The exhibit will start Monday.

Man Appeals Jail Sentence For Assault

Clarence J. Northcraft, 1010 Ella Avenue, has filed an appeal to a 30-day jail sentence received last week in Trial Magistrates Court in an assault case. He has been freed on $500 bond pending hearing of the appeal.

Magistrate Morris Baron sentenced the defendant to 30 days in Allegany County Jail after finding him guilty of assault upon Mrs. Betty Jean Northcraft. The assault took place on February 23.

Valley, Ft. Hill Play In State Tourney Today

Knights Face Gaithersburg, Sentinels Meet Annapolis

Allegany Countians Play In Semi-Final Games At 6 And 7:30

Fort Hill High School's Sentinels and Valley High School's Black Knights, Allegany county's representatives in the Maryland basketball tournament will face their first big tests in their bids for state titles in semi-final round contests today at College Park.

Coach John C. Meyers' Valley quint is slated to oppose Gaithersburg High School in the second Class B game on the program at 6 p. m., while Fort Hill will tackle Annapolis High School in the initial Class A battle at 7:30 p. m.

Six games, all semi-finals in the three classes, are on tap for today with the opener slated to get under way at 1 p. m.

Won Last In 1949

Coach John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh will be taking a Fort Hill team to the state championship event for the first time since 1949 when his Sentinels disposed of Wicomico High of Salisbury, 52-36, to annex the title. In 1948 Fort Hill also captured state honors by clobbering Wicomico, 76-17. The Salisbury school, only Class A entry on the Eastern Shore, also figures in a semi-final game today, meeting Montgomery Blair High's Blazers of Silver Spring, undefeated in 20 games this season, in the 9 p. m. contest. The Montgomery countians have bagged the state A crown three times in the past six years and loom as "the team to beat" this weekend. The Blazers went to the finals in 1957 but were beaten by Frederick High's Cadets, 58-51. Montgomery Blair went into that game with a 21-0 record.

Annapolis High School of Anne Arundel county is coached by Bill Best, of Mt. Savage, former Beall High School and Frostburg State all-around athlete, who took over the reins of the Annapolitans this year. His team won county honors by downing Glen Burnie in a playoff game, 58-47, and wound up its regular season with a 12-7 record. Annapolis qualified for the state tourney by whipping Westminster and Towson in the District Three games the past weekend at Western Maryland College.

Campers Won In 1954

In 1954 when Allegany High School gave Allegany county its last Class A state championship team, Annapolis was its vicitim in a semi-final game at College Park in a 53-51 thriller won on a field goal by Bob Kirtley in the closing seconds. The Campers trimmed Bethesda-Chevy Chase in the finals that year by the score of 76-41. Other regulars on that AHS team were Jim Hoffman, Dick Rank, Dave Steele and Bob Reiber.

Fort Hill takes a 10-game winning streak into today's contest. The Sentinels started their victory string on January 31 and have reeled off wins over Valley, Bruce, Beall, Mt. Savage, Allegany, LaSalle, Frederick and South Hagerstown to close out the regular campaign with a 16-5 record. After bagging the W.M.I. League, Allegany County Class A and Cumberland Valley Athletic League titles, the Sentinels whipped Frederick, 61-56, and North Hagerstown, 55-47, to earn a berth in the state tournament.

This, incidentally, is Fort Hill's first winning team since 1953 when the Sentinels won 13 of 21 games. From 1954 through 1957 Fort Hill's season records were: 9-12, 8-13, 10-12 and 6-15.

Shoots For 7th Title

"Bobby" Cavanaugh has been coaching Cumberland high school teams for 30 years and he will be shooting for his seventh state crown this week. His past winners were: 1929—Penn Avenue (19-2); 1935—Penn Avenue (26-4); 1938—Fort Hill (28-3); 1939—Fort Hill (31-1); 1948—Fort Hill (27-5) and 1949—Fort Hill (25-1).

Valley High School will be gunning for its third straight Class C state championship. The Black Knights lost to Cambridge in the 1955 finals at College Park but breezed to victory in 1956 and 1957 by downing Oxon Hill in the finals both years.

Coach Meyers had state winners at Central High School, Lonaconing, in 1950 and 1952 but in between Aberdeen beat the Tigers in the 1951 final by the score of 44-43. Meyers will be gunning for his fifth title this year. His past state winners and their records are as follows: 1950—Central—(21-3), 1952—Central (16-8); 1956—Valley (20-5) and 1957—Valley (22-5). In the past three years Valley has won 11 in a row in district and state games, including two this season.

Knights Win 16 of 22

The Black Knights won county Class B honors by sweeping four games with Bruce and Mt. Savage. In this District One tourney at Fort Hill last week Coach Meyers' team disposed of Brunswick, 48-43, and Southern of Oakland, 63-47, to extend its winning skein to seven games. The Knights' overall record to date is 16 wins and six losses.

Gaithersburg High of Carroll county qualified for the state tourney by winning the District Two title and eliminating Cambridge High of District Five in a playoff game, 62-46, at Western Maryland College Tuesday night.

Walkersville High of Frederick county, Class C champion in District One by virtue of victories over Oldtown and Hancock, puts a 19-0 record on the line when it meets New Windsor today at 4 p. m., at College Park. Lackey High School of Indian Head and Crisfield from the Eastern Shore clash in the first Class C game at 1 p. m.

Aberdeen Ineligible

North Carroll High of Greenmount and Chestertown play at 2:30 in the other Class B semi-final and the winner faces the victor in the Valley Gaithersburg game for the championship Saturday. North Carroll replaces Aberdeen which was denied permission to participate because of a Harford county ruling which prohibits school teams from playing before 3:15 p. m., the hour school lets out. North Carroll is from Carroll county and had a 21-0 record last season before being eliminated by Valley High.

Finals Saturday are Class C at 6 p. m., Class B at 7:30 and Class A at 9 p. m.

Tis is the 25th year for the state championship event in Maryland. From 1927 through 1939 it was an open affair. The division of schools into classes became effective in 1947. Allegany County Class A schools have bagged 17 state titles in 24 years. In 11 years the B crown has been won by Allegany county schools seven times and in Class C five times. Class D games were staged in 1947, 1948 and 1949 but were discontinued in 1950. No tournaments were held from 1940 through 1946.

Campers Won 11 Times

Allegany High School has had eleven state championship teams, Fort Hill, four, Bruce, four, Barton, three, Penn Avenue, Valley and Central, two each, and Beall one.

Boston's Don Buddin Discharged By Army

ATLANTA, (AP) — The Army Thursday granted a hardship discharge to Don Buddin, Boston Red Sox baseball player, and the shortstop plans to join the Sox at their Florida training camp Friday.

The discharge was granted "because of the continued illness of a member of his family", an Army spokesman said. Buddin, who has been stationed at Ft. McPherson in Atlanta, asked the discharge because his wife is expecting a baby, his mother-in-law is ill and his pay as an enlisted man is not enough to meet expenses. His regular term of service would have ended in June.

Moose Take City League Crown

Final Period Rally Decides 82-77 Battle

Lilya's Goal Turns Tide In "Rubber" Game With Old G's

BY TED TROXELL

Player-coach Don Lilya's Loyal Order of Moose cagers charged from behind in the final quarter last night to sweep past the Old Germans, 82-77, and wrap up the championship of the City Basketball League in a rousing battle at the Fort Hill gymnasium.

Last night's contest was the do-or-die game of a best-of-three series between the two clubs that finished on top in the first and second halves of the six-team circuit's split season schedule. Moose, first half champs, had won the initial playoff contest by a 76-65 margin, while the Old Gees, second half titlists, came back to easily cop the second, 92-54.

And for a time last night it looked as if the Germans would romp to victory in similar one-sided fashion, as they hopped off to a 30-19 advantage in the first period.

The Moose trailed by six points at the half, 53-47, and at the end of the third period, 65-59, finally catching the Old Germans for the first time with 5:35 remaining in the game when Donnie Madden's layup tied it up at 73-all.

John Alderton converted one of two fouls to give the Moose the edge for the first time in the game, but Jim Clevenger came back a second later with a pair of free throws to put the lead back into the hands of the Brewers, 75-74.

With 4:36 showing on the scoreboard clock, Lilya tapped in a loose rebound to shove the LOOM crew in front for good, 76-75. The Moose then proceeded to click off six consecutive points, three apiece by Madden and Jim Clingan, who was the sparkplug of the fourth period rally.

Three players fouled out in the rugged struggle, with Fritz Showers, the Moose five's prolific point-maker, the first to depart. Showers existed with 2:06 remaining in the third quarter, and was followed in the final stanza by two members of the opposition, "Hoppy" Crabtree and Don Moran.

Showers paced both teams in scoring with 25 points, including eight field goals and a perfect 9-9 performance at the foul line. Moran and Lou Bell each caged 23 tallies for Coach Charles "Whip" Kreitzburg's aggregation.

The Old Germans shot at a phenomenal clip during the first half, hitting on 19 of 31 attempts from the floor, but made only five of 24 tries in the final two periods to wind up with an overall 24-55 mark and an average of .436. The Moose found the range on 28 of 73 cracks at the netted target for a percentage reading of .384. Lineups:

Hyndman Beats Bedford For County Loop Title

Hornets Cop Final Playoff Contest In Everett, 41-36

EVERETT, Pa., March 13 — Coach Harry McKinley's Hyndman High School basketeers won the championship of the Bedford County High School League tonight by defeating Bedford High School's Bisons, 41-36, in a playoff contest at Everett-Southern High School tonight.

The game was witnessed by a capacity crowd despite a six inch snowfall.

Bedford took a 9-6 lead at the quarter but Hyndman was on top at halftime, 24-17, and also at the close of the third period, 30-27.

Hedgesville And Aurora Play At Keyser Tonight

Potomac State Gym Scene Of Area Two Class B Cage Tilt

Potomac State College at Keyser will be the scene of action today for the West Virginia Class B Area 2 championship basketball game in which Hedgesville High School's Eagles of Berkeley County will meet undefeated Aurora High School of Preston county at 8 p. m.

Coach Charley Spencer's Hedgesville quint won the Region 4 tourney at Shepherd College last week by defeating Paw Paw, 61-41, and Piedmont, 42-39. Aurora High boasts a 22-0 record for the season. The Preston countians qualified for the Area final by defeating Valley High of Masontown in the Region 3 final Saturday at Rowlesburg by the score of 76-71. Aurora last made the state tournament three years ago. Hedgesville lost in the semi-finals of the state event last year.

Parker C. Black, principal of Keyser High School, will be in charge of tonight's game at Keyser. Officials will be Samuel Marchis and Bill Ballard.

Three Tourney Teams Unbeaten

By The Associated Press

Three unbeaten teams among eight contenders will compete Friday night in four single-game Class B area playoffs for spots in the State High School Basketball Tournament March 21-22 at Morgantown.

Two of the undefeated teams—Flemington and Ansted — and Huntington Douglass will make their second straight appearance in the area eliminations.

Aurora of Preston County will take a 22-0 record into the next-to-last round of competition leading up to the B championship event at the West Virginia field house.

Tonight's Pairings

Friday night's area activity includes:

Area 1 at Fairmont

Sherrard (8-16) vs. Flemington (25-0).

Area 2 at Keyser

Aurora 22-0) vs. Hedgesville (14-1).

Area 3 and 4 at Fayetteville

Green Bank (17-2) vs. Ansted (22-0) and Baileysville (21-3) vs. Huntington Douglass (22-3), respectively, in a doubleheader.

Only Hedgesville of Berkeley County in the Eastern Panhandle, made the Class B State Tournament last season, but the Eagles lost to Burch of Delbarton which went on to win the title.

Burch became a Class A school this school year and has been eliminated from championship contention, which assures a new B titlist this year.

Flemington of Taylor County has the most outstanding record of any Class A or B team still in the state championship picture.

The four area champions will know when and whom they play in the state tournament after Friday night's activity.

Finals At Morgantown

The Area 3 and 4 victors meet in the tourney opener next Friday afternoon, preceding the first Class A contest. Area 1 and 2 champions will play the opening game of the Friday night session, which also will include another first - round Class A game.

The Class B championship will be decided Saturday, March 22, in the first game of a twin-bill before the Class A finals.

Hawkins Leads At Pensacola

Otto Greiner's 67 Trails By Stroke

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — Veteran Fred Hawkins blew up on one hole Thursday but pulled himself together for a six under par 66 and a one-stroke lead in the opening round of the $15,000 Pensacola Open golf tournament.

Hawkins, playing out of El Paso, Tex., shot a two over par seven on the 480-yard 14th hole to mar the round. The native of Antioch, Ill., was only about 20 feet off the green on his second shot at the fatal 14th hole. But he overran the green and three-putted for a double bogie.

Hawkins picked up nine bridies and was one over par on the par four 435-yard fourth hole.

Otto Griener, a Tenafly, N.J., club pro, put together one of his consistent rounds to trail Hawkins by a stroke at 67.

Joe Zakarian of Modesto, Calif. discovered on the fourth hole that he was carrying an extra club in his bag. An eight-stroke penalty—two strokes per hole—lifted his fine 67 to a 75 and shoved him far down the ladder.

Two strokes off the pace at 68 were: Bo Wininger, Odessa, Tex., Frank Stranahan, Toledo, Ohio; and Don Whitt, Alameda, Calif. Seven were bunched at 69.

Sanford Hit Hard, Phillies Lose, 9-1

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP)—Washington clubbed Jack Sanford, pride of the Philadelphia pitching staff, for eight runs in the second inning of Thursday's exhibition game and won 9-1.

Three Washington hurlers held the Phillies to five hits and a run in the opening inning on singles by Richie Ashburn and Chico Fernandez, followed by Rip Repulski's double play grounder.

Norm Zauchin got two doubles for Washington in the big second. All runs came after two were out.

The final Washington run came in the ninth, a homer by Neil Chrisley, subbing for Roy Seivers.

Maryland And Temple Clash At Charlotte Tonight

Manhattan To Play Dartmouth In Other NCAA Regional Tilt

By The Associated Press

Interest will be centered on two "naturals," games involving four of the nation's top-ranking teams, when regional eliminations begin Friday night at four scattered centers in the national collegiate (NCAA) basketball tournament.

At Lawrence, Kan., Cincinnati, the No. 2 team in the Associated Press final poll, plays Kansas State, Big Eight Conference champion and No. 3 in the regular season rankings.

At Charlotte, N.C., Temple, with a 23-game winning streak which is the longest among major basketball teams, goes against Maryland, the giant-killer which won the Atlantic Coast Conference crown over such teams as North Carolina, North Carolina State and Duke. Temple was No. 5 in the AP poll, Maryland No. 6.

North Carolina won the NCAA crown last year in a triple overtime final against Kansas. Neither North Carolina nor Kansas qualified for the 1958 event.

Rodgers Leads Temple

The two feature games promise interesting individual performances. Temple, an iron man squad which has seen five players carry the brunt of the load all season, is led by All-America Guy Rodgers. Maryland has a deep, well-balanced squad with Nick Davis the ace scorer.

The Cincinnati-Kansas State battle may develop into an individual duel between Oscar Robertson, the nation's leading scorer from Cincinnati, and the talented Bob Boozer of Kansas State.

Here's the schedule:

Eastern at Charlotte, N.C.: Maryland (21-6) vs. Temple (24-2); Manhattan (16-8) vs. Dartmouth (21-4).

Mideast at Lexington, Ky.—Kentucky (19-6) vs. Miami (Ohio) (18-7); Notre Dame (23-4) vs. Indiana (12-10).

Midwest at Lawrence, Kan. — Oklahoma State (20-7) vs. Arkansas (18-8); Kansas State (20-3) vs. Cincinnati (24-2).

Western at San Francisco — Seattle (20-5) vs. San Francisco (25-1); Idaho State (22-4) vs. California (18-8).

Finals On Saturday

Finals in the regional tournaments will be held Saturday night, with winners qualifying for the semifinals and finals scheduled at Louisville March 21-22.

Geese, timed by airplane speedometer, can travel at 60 miles per hour, and they hold the altitude record of 29,000 feet, which is nearly 5½ miles.

The Sparrow Hawk should be called the Grasshopper Hawk because he feeds a great deal more upon these insects than he does on sparrows.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, March 13 (INS) — Susan Hayward, in town for Walter Wanger's picture "The Barbara Graham Story," told me that she brought with her a very bad cold. She said she leaves Thursday for Corona to make a tour of the women's prison where Barbara Graham spent her last days before her execution.

Susan said she read the script of the Barbara Graham story and feels that it will do much to combat juvenile delinquency. "It shows what can happen to a girl who gets in the wrong company," she said.

Wanger offered Susan's husband, Eaton Chalkey, who was formerly with the FBI and a student of criminology, a job as technical director. Eaton can't possibly accept, however, because he has too much to do in Georgia.

"Eaton is with me now, but he has to fly back very soon," Susan said, "but he'll be commuting while I'm on the picture."

As soon as Carroll Baker feels well enough to return to Hollywood she'll discuss another picture for Warner Bros. Her baby son is now only a month old.

So far no story has been found for Carroll. I hope when one is found it won't be another "Baby Doll" which I thoroughly disliked and felt was an embarrassingly smutty movie. She's such a good actress she deserves a different type story.

Despite what was printed elsewhere, Lee Remick, the girl who is so good in "Long Hot Summer," will not be in Pat Boone's new picture, "Mardi Gras."

Jerry Wald has decided that Lee will be more valuable traveling through Europe with "Long Hot Summer" and making personal appearances with her hit. And he has someone else in mind for Pat's picture.

I can't imagine Lee objecting to this switch in the least. With her husband, Bill Collaran, along to enjoy the trip with her this is certainly a case of combining business and pleasure.

Immediately after the "Present Laughter" performance on Saturday night, Eva Gabor tells me she'll fly to New York to do a one minute commercial for a cosmetic company.

"I was offered so much money I couldn't turn it down," she said. "Some things we do because we like them, other things we do for money."

Playing in Noel Coward's play "Present Laughter" is one thing Eva does because she thoroughly enjoys it. She gets back here Tuesday in time for the play, and later in the week she will do "The Vagabond" on Matinee Theatre.

I asked Eva if she is going to marry John Mills of the Les Ambassadeurs in London. Said Eva, "absolutely not. I have made many mistakes in my life, but this won't be one of them."

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

What do you make of this, Watson? London received a diamond ring from Bobby Troup.

And Joanne Woodward finally received her real wedding ring from Paul Neman which is gorgeous. It has three rows of diamonds in a band. Paul bought it in Paris and had it fitted without her knowing.

Nancy Kelly's sister, Carol, is marrying Joe Maross, New York TV star, who is here for a role in "Run Silent, Run Deep."

It's reported that Richard Ney's Broadway show "Portofino," which ran three days, had a loss of $245,000 from 90 investors.

Nat King Cole is tossing himself a party on St. Patrick's Day which just happens to be his birthday.

Peggy Lee and Dewey Martin planed in from Palm Beach where they went on a brief vacation following her highly successful appearance at the Copacabana in New York.

Robert Dix, son of the late Richard Dix who was the male star in "Cimarron," was on the MGM lot to discuss playing a part in the remake of his father's most successful picture.

Marge and Gower Champion will be separated when he flies to Havana to stage Jane Powell's show at the Riviera. It's too hurried a trip for Marge to go along.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Market Scores Advance In Spite Of Profit Taking

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market forged ahead again Thursday in heavy trading despite a rash of profit taking.

The turnover of 2,830,000 shares was the biggest since Feb. 4. It was the second time this week that volume reached such proportions and indicated a definite renewal of trading interest.

The advance was a resumption of an eight-day rise which was virtually uninterrupted until yesterday's slight decline.

Building materials, coppers, tobaccos, meat packers and rails held much of their gains to the end. Motors, aircrafts and oil showed more losses than gains. Utilities were off.

As the economic picture seemed to deteriorate, Wall Street became more confident that Washington would soon adopt tax reductions for individuals and corporations.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 30 cents to $164.00 with the industrials up 20 cents, the rails up $1.00 and the utilities off 20 cents.

For the fourth straight session Lorillard topped the most active list. Its recent phenomenal run-up was interrupted by profit taking and it lost ⅜ at 48⅝ on 69,800 shares. Second was Wilson & Co., up ⅛ at 20 on 40,800 shares. Third was American Metal Climax, up ⅝ at 21⅛ on 39,300 shares.

Next came American Bosch Arma, up 1½ at 22½, and U. S. Tobacco, up 1⅛ at 23⅛.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 heart	Pass	3 clubs	Pass
4 clubs	Pass	4 diamonds	Pass
5 diamonds	Pass	6 hearts	Pass
7 hearts	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Six of spades.

Today's hand was played in a tournament and most of the pairs reached a contract of six hearts which they had no difficulty in fulfilling.

Several teams reached seven, one on the bidding shown in the diagram, which I rather like. The response of three clubs the first round is the only satisfactory call available. A response of three no trump would not do justice to the holding since such a bid shows a range of from 16 to 18 points, and this hand contains 20.

The six of spades was the opening lead at every table. Two of the players who had bid seven failed to make the contract. They drew three rounds of trumps. Then they cashed the four clubs, discarding the deuce of diamonds from dummy. They then played ace, king, and another diamond which was trumped, but when the suit failed to break they were left with a losing diamond and no trump in dummy.

Having drawn three trumps, declarer should first test the diamonds by playing the ace and king. If the queen falls the hand will be over. If it doesn't, there is still the chance that diamonds will divide 3-3 and the 13th diamond will stand up.

The better play, however, is to reverse dummy; that is, arrange to trump all the spades in the closed hand and at the end discard the deuce of diamonds on the long club.

When the opening spade lead is ruffed with a high trump, dummy should be entered with the nine of hearts and another spade ruffed high, dummy re-entered with the ten of hearts and last spade ruffed. A diamond or a club put dummy in again to draw the last trump. Now declarer runs off the clubs, shedding the low diamond from dummy, and the dummy is now high.

On The Line

by Bob Considine

PALM BEACH, March 13 (INS) — Gen. Mark Clark, World War II military leader and now president of The Citadel, has presented a plan to President Eisenhower which would have far-reaching effect on American youth for generations to come.

Briefly, Clark has urged that the military installations of the U. S. be opened to groups of boys for two-week periods during the summer months. The towering, water-thin combat veteran, on a brief visit to his friend Nate Cummings at the Palm Beach Towers, outlined the plan in detail.

"This would be no attempt to form a Hitler Youth movement, or anything like it," he told us. "I wouldn't suggest that there be any drilling at all, though I'd like to see the boys rise and shine for reveille and be present when the flag comes down in the evening.

"The permanent military bases — Army camps, naval stations, Air Force bases — have facilities to house, feed and entertain tens of thousands of boys who would profit by such association. They all have swimming pools, baseball fields, gyms, libraries, theaters. The forces have a huge film library; films on the meaning of the Constitution, the Bill of Rights and scores of other subjects.

"This can be done without any cost to the government. We've figured out that we can feed a boy for $1.16 a day. The only charges — sheets for his bunk, for instance — are incidental. It would be easy to raise the money through such agencies as the American Legion, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the churches, Rotary and so forth. Selection of the boys wouldn't be difficult, either. The important thing, it seems to me, would be to see to it that the poor kids had the same opportunities as the well-to-do."

Clark has given the plan a dry run at the venerated military college he runs at Charleston, S. C. It worked beautifully.

The aforementioned Nate Cummings, Chicago food tycoon, is an enthusiastic collector of ultra-moderne painting. His penthouse at the Palm Beach Towers somewhat resembles a direct hit on a pizza plant. Not all of this pleasant guy's friends share his infatuation with such art. Nate was explaining his latest acquisition to a puzzled pal the other night and when he finished the pal said:

"I beat my kid for doing something like that the other day."

It's worth a trip to Palm Beach just to take a look at Frank Hale's Playhouse, certainly the most beautiful theater in the world. It seats 707 playgoers on a single gracefully rising floor, and all the trickery of a thousand years of make-believe have been built into its wings. The dressing rooms are equipped with closed-circuit TV which tells the star, for example, just what is happening on stage and how close her cue-time is. It's the first theater built in this country from the ground up in a generation.

And if you don't like the play, there's a fine bar and nightclub in the same building.

This seems as good a dateline as any to write about the new edition of Who's Who. It weighs eight pounds and contains data on 50,645 more or less famed Americans. Twenty-six men and women who were in the first volume, put out 60 years ago, are in the new book.

Heavy Snowfall Clogs All Roads

Traffic Paralyzed As Season's Worst Storm Drops 9 Inches Here

The heaviest one-day snowfall of the season buried the tri-state area under nearly nine inches of snow yesterday.

Snarled traffic, exasperated motorists, late buses and taxis, and a general log jam were the rule rather than the exception.

State Police issued warnings of "extremely hazardous" driving conditions to motorists, reporting tie-ups along all the major highways throughout Allegany and Garrett counties.

Although roads were said to be passable, State Roads Commission crews were working at top speed to keep them clear. Tie-ups, especially with heavy tractor-trailer units, were reported in the mountain areas east of Cumberland and on Meadow Mountain between Frostburg and Grantsville.

The slippery highway caused a three-hour delay in traffic as cars struggled to ascend the hill on Route 220 at Triple Lakes.

Buses east and west of Cumberland were experiencing extreme difficulty in maintaining schedules, arriving here as much as three hours late.

Street, Road Crews Busy

The snow began falling at 11:40 a.m. and for some time melted as it fell on the lower sections of the city.

The Street Department dispatched salt and cinder crews about 2:30 p.m. as the snow began to pile up on the streets, and by 5 p.m. switched to snow plows.

Several crews were working early last evening and officials said the men would work through the night to keep main streets open.

Traffic was hopelessly snarled in several sections of the city as the afternoon rush developed, and driving conditions were difficult here even for motorists who stopped to put on chains.

The snowfall totaled 6.6 inches at 6 p.m. and was at the 8½-inch mark at 9 p.m. as snow mixed with occasional sleet.

It was the second heaviest snowfall of the winter by 9 p.m. and from all indications was to exceed by morning the 9½ inches of snow which fell here on December 3 and 4.

The wet snow fell as the temperature hovered around the freezing mark.

Yesterday's low temperature was 21 and the high 32 and it had dropped to an official 29 degrees at 9 p.m. as a northeast wind blew into the area.

Garrett Roads Covered

The State Roads Commission office at Oakland said all highways in Garrett County were covered and motorists were advised to use chains.

The SRC reported that eight crews were out and all roads were being plowed.

Oakland had between seven and eight inches of snow and it had just stopped there last night at 9 o'clock. The temperature was 24 degrees.

In the Accident area, a State Roads official said the snow was not quite so heavy as near Oakland.

Western Pennsylvania reported roads passable but State Police are urging caution if travel is necessary.

Keyser, Elkins Worst

The West Virginia State Road Commission's bureau of highway information and State Police radio division at Charleston pinpointed the worst driving conditions in the Keyser and Elkins areas, in and around Rainelle in Greenbrier County and on the southern portion of the West Virginia Turnpike.

Tucker County reported six inches of snow Thursday and icy roads. The highway information agency recommended chains for automobile travel there.

Elsewhere in the Elkins district, three inches of snow was reported in Randolph County, where chains have been recommended in the mountains, and two to three inches of snow in Pendleton and Pocahontas counties made it necessary to use chains for motoring, the agency said.

In the Eastern Panhandle, the highway information bureau and State Police said it was snowing throughout a seven - county area.

Chains were recommended in Grant County, where four inches of snow was reported, and in Hampshire, Hardy and Mineral counties. The Road Commission bureau said it was snowing hard in Berkeley, Jefferson and Morgan counties.

State Police reported two to five inches of snow at Romney, Hampshire County.

Public Schools And St. Mary's Closed Today

All Allegany County public schools and St. Mary's grade and high schools will be closed today because of the heavy snowfall.

Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster decided about 10 o'clock last night to keep public schools closed today. The All-County band and orchestra concert scheduled for tonight at Allegany High School also has been postponed.

Of the city parochial schools only St. Mary's was certain last night that its schools would be closed. All of the others were uncertain.

Estel Kelley Seeks Return To House Seat

Estel C. Kelley, 708 Fayette Street, former member of the House of Delegates who is again seeking nomination and election to the lower house of the General Assembly, said yesterday that he decided to file with the County Board of Election Supervisors just before the Monday midnight deadline at the urging of many friends.

Mr. Kelley, who was elected to the House of Delegates on the Republican ticket in 1950 and again in 1954, resigned in June 1957 when he was appointed by Governor Theodore R. McKeldin to a six-year term on the County Board of Alcoholic Beverages License Commissioners.

If elected to the House of Delegates in November, he will resign from the liquor board.

Born in Westernport, Mr. Kelley was graduated from Bruce High School and the University of Maryland Law School. While living in the Tri-Towns area he joined Piedmont Methodist Church.

A past president of the Allegany County Bar Association, he belongs to the Eagles, Elks and El Fidel Club. He holds an honorary membership in the Cresaptown Volunteer Fire Department and an honorary past worthy president's certificate of membership in the Grand Aerie, Fraternal Order of Eagles.

In speaking of his record in nearly seven years in the House of Delegates, Mr. Kelley said he is especially proud of his role in obtaining passage of the strip mining bill. He also emphasized that he has always supported teacher pay increase legislation, legislation to authorize the various county school construction projects, and legislation to enlarge the roads program to the benefit of Allegany County.

The local attorney also commented that he has consistently supported every soldiers' bonus bill introduced in the House of Delegates. He also noted that he supported legislation which resulted in the reopening of the Flat Rock Bridge at Barton.

"I have always worked for the economic and industrial development of Allegany County and if elected again will continue to support all legislation leading to that end," Mr. Kelley said.

Local Florist Hit, Dragged By Automobile

John Paul, 79, Is In 'Poor' Condition

John Paul, 79-year-old Cumberland florist, is in "poor" condition in Sacred Heart Hospital where he was admitted yesterday afternoon after being struck and dragged nearly 50 feet by an automobile on Frederick Street.

Mr. Paul was crossing the street at the intersection of Frederick and North Centre when he was hit by the car driven by Charles Perry Scott, about 50, of 310 Maryland Avenue.

Officer John Daum was directing traffic at the intersection. Officer Leo Downey, another member of the Cumberland Police Department, saw the accident.

Officer Daum said he had just relieved Officer Downey at the intersection and had halted traffic to allow Mr. Paul and another pedestrian, walking north, to cross Frederick Street.

As the two men approached the curbing, the officer turned and waved Mr. Scott's car, which was stopped on Frederick Street on the left side of Centre Street, across the intersection.

As the car passed behind him, Officer Daum reported, he heard Officer Downey, who was standing on the corner, yell that the automobile had struck Mr. Paul.

When he turned, Officer Daum could see the car dragging Mr. Paul beneath it as the vehicle moved up Frederick Street toward the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

Both officers blew their whistles to stop the automobile, which halted in front of the Coffee Shoppe, located on Frederick Street.

Several other witnesses aided the two officers in jacking up the car and pulling Mr. Paul from beneath the vehicle. Police said they were unable to get a call through for an ambulance, so the victim was taken to the hospital in the patrol wagon.

He was admitted shortly after 5 p.m. with superficial lacerations of the body and other injuries.

Hospital attaches said Mr. Paul, who has been in ill health, was suffering from shock, and although it appeared he had sustained no fractures, his condiiton was "poor."

Mr. Scott told police he did not see the pedestrian and thought he had struck some packed snow in the street. Both he and the officers stated the car was not moving fast because of the hazardous driving conditions.

He was released on his own recognizance and will be questioned at the state's attorney's office at 9 a. m. today.

Mr. Paul has operated a florist shop at 101 Henry Street for many years. He resides at 106 Frederick Street.

Youthful Trio Aids Motorists In Snowstorm

Three unidentified Corriganville area youths, ranging in ages from 15 to 17, enjoyed themselves during yesterday's heavy snowstorm by helping their neighbors.

The trio aided numerous motorists who skidded, became stuck, or had difficulty traversing the snow - covered highway along Route 36 between Corriganville and Mt. Savage.

They pitched in and dug stalled motorists out of the snow, pushed others along the snow - clogged road, helped right cars which skidded off the road, and generally helped out.

Bridge Deck Pour Slated During April

Rock Is Excavated For Railway Piers

Forms for the concrete deck of the new Baltimore Street Bridge have been completed by Hazelwood Construction Company crews and most of the reinforcing steel for the slab is in place.

The concrete deck for the span will be poured as soon as the weather warms up, according to Rex E. Dexter, resident engineer for the Corps of Engineers.

Mr. Dexter said it will probably be three or four weeks before the pour can be made, explaining the temperature must be above 40 degrees for the first five days and that it would be necessary to provide heat if the pour were made now.

Work Double Shifts

Upstream of the bridge, the firm has removed all of the abutments of the old Western Maryland Railway bridge.

Double shifts have been working in the area to excavate for the new channel which will be deepened from seven to eight feet.

In addition to the general excavation, the contractor is excavating in rock for the east abutment and center pier of the new railway span.

The E. J. Albrecht Company, working upstream, has nearly completed diverting an old dry run conduit into the Viaduct Pumping Station.

Rip-Rap Banks

On Section 2 of the Potomac River phase of the flood protection project, Albrecht crews have about completed excavation for both abutments and the center pier.

The South abutment has been completed except for wing walls and the firm is about ready to pour the foundation for the north abutment.

Rip-rapping is in progress on both sides of the river. Crews are placing the heavy stone paving on about 1,000 feet of the river bank on the Cumberland side below the old Railroad Interchange Bridge and in Ridgeley are working opposite Potomac Street.

Rules On Eating Establishments Are Approved

Representatives of the Board of Allegany County Commissioners and the Health Department agreed here yesterday that state regulations on eating and drinking establishments should be enforced in a practical and impartial manner.

James Orr, president, and William A. Wilson, member of the Board of Allegany County Commissioners met here yesterday morning regarding the new eating and drinking establishment regulations.

C. S. Brinsfield, chief of the division of food control for the State Health Department, explained the regulations are statewide, having been adopted by the State Board of Health effective July 1, 1957, and that the deputy state health officer of each county is charged by the Board of Health to enforce the rules.

The Commissioners went on record as approving clean establishments and adequate operational facilities, with the food and drink being served by sanitation-conscious personnel.

Both the commissioners and Health Department representatives agreed the state regulations should be enforced in a practical and impartial manner, a spokesman said.

Questions regarding the enforcement of the regulations should be referred to Dr. Ton van Strien, county health officer, at the Health Department offices on the second floor of the Public Safety Building.

Fort Hill Paper Wins Top Honor From Columbia

Other Publications Also Get Awards

The Sentinel, the student newspaper of Fort Hill High School, won a top honor in the annual awards of the Columbia Scholastic Press Association, according to an Associated Press dispatch from New York.

Six Allegany County school publications received Columbia Scholastic Press Association awards but only The Sentinel received a medalist award, the top honor.

The contest, sponsored by Columbia University, was judged by a board of 30 school press authorities. They used a 1,000-point scoring system outlined to cover content, makeup, headlines and all phases of publication procedures.

The Sentinel won its award in the classification of printed newspapers for junior-senior high schools with 1,001 or more enrollment.

Three other publications won first place awards, the classification just below the medalist award.

The Alcohi Mirror of Allegany High School competed in the same classification as The Sentinel and got a first-place award. Chime, the Beall High School of Frostburg publication, won a first place award in the class for printed newspapers of junior-senior high schools with 1,000 or fewer students. The State-To-Date newspaper of Frostburg State Teachers College won a first place award among printed newspapers of schools of education.

The Peterian of St. Peter's High School, Westernport, received a second place award in the classification for printed newspapers of senior high schools with 300 or fewer enrollment.

Easter Seal Sale Appeal Is Launched

The 14th annual Easter Seal campaign is under way, with George Schwarzenbach campaign chairman.

Easter seals have been mailed to all residents of the county to raise a budget of $26,000 for operation of the agency for another year.

According to Mr. Schwarzenbach, the total active case load of the Allegany County League for Crippled Children is 1,003 crippled children. During the past year 1,015 children were given speech therapy, 2,792 physical therapy and hospital bills were paid for 70 children. In addition, 1,284 children were examined by leading specialists at the various clinics held throughout the year.

The Easter Seal drive is the only major fund raising effort of the League.

Miss Henrietta Lippold is executive secretary of the League, which maintains headquarters at City Hall Plaza. The president is Miss Henrietta Schwarzenbach; Senator J. Glenn Beall is vice president; John H. Mosner is treasurer and J. William Hunt is secretary.

Mr. Schwarzenbach asked that residents mail their contributions for their seals as soon as possible.

Henderson's Retirement Will End Two-Judge Era

By ALBERT D. DARBY
News Staff Writer

When George Henderson was a five-year boy, A. Hunter Boyd became chief judge of the Fourth Judicial Circuit on May 3, 1893.

Next Monday, when George Henderson reaches the age of 70, he will be compelled to retire as chief judge of the Fourth Judicial Circuit.

From that time when Judge Boyd became a judge to Judge Henderson's retirement—a period of almost 65 years — Allegany County has continuously been served by two judges. That two-judge tradition will end permanently Monday as Morgan C. Harris will be the lone judge in this county.

A constitutional amendment approved by Maryland's voters in November 1954 assured Garrett County of a sitting judge. Since the early days of 1955, Neil C. Fraley has been the judge in the Court House at Oakland. Before then one of Allegany County's two judges was called upon to hold court in Maryland's westernmost county.

From Judge Boyd's time until after passage of the Reorganization Act of 1943, the chief judge of each circuit sat on the Maryland Court of Appeals so that he divided his time between Annapolis and Cumberland. Different judges now serve on the Court of Appeals.

Judge Henderson's father, Robert R. Henderson, served as an associate judge of the Fourth Judicial Circuit for almost 18 years, from his election in November 1903 until his retirement in September 1921.

George Henderson assumed office November 30, 1946, so his service on the bench will encompass 11 years, three months and 17 days.

The chief judge of the Fourth Judicial Circuit has heard his last case but several motions are to be argued before him today. Tomorrow morning will be his final appearance at the Court House in his capacity as chief judge, Sunday being the final day before his 70th birthday.

One of Judge Henderson's most famous classmates at Princeton University, where he was graduated in 1909, was Judge Harold R. Medina. He too has retired this month. President Eisenhower on March 6 accepted Judge Medina's retirement as judge of the U.S. Second Circuit Court of Appeals. Judge Medina made national news in 1949 as the presiding judge at the trial of 11 top Communists convicted of conspiracy to advocate overthrow of the government.

34 Seniors Take Tests

Twenty-four of them selected The Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, as their first choice. They included Glenn L. Davis, Charles Diehl, Allen Fisher, Charles R. Six girls selected Hood College, Frederick, as their first choice. They included Susan Elizabeth Dye, Allegany; Nancy Diaz, Peggy Ann McIntyre and Mary Catherine Rowan, all of Bruce; Rae Ann Eichhorn and Sally Price Steiding, both of Valley High School.

Four other seniors took the Maryland Institute examination. They are Joy Laber, Allegany; Carol Wallizer, Flintstone; William Dennis Alabaugh and Randolph Miller, both Fort Hill.

Meeting Slated On Air Service To Cumberland

A representative of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce will meet with a Civil Aeronautics Board examiner next Tuesday in Washington to discuss airline service for this Western Maryland industrial center.

Representing the Chamber will be Thomas W. Morris, director of Industrial Promotion.

Mr. Morris will discuss the joint answer and protest of the City of Cumberland and the Chamber to the application of Allegheny Airlines for a CAB order which would allow it to suspend service for Cumberland.

Other matters relating to commercial air service to the Queen City will be explored, officials said.

Mr. Morris is expected to point out that the Cumberland area is the second largest industrial area in Maryland and that products produced by its 60 industries are valued at about $90,000,000 a year.

The present application is one of several attempts made by the airline in recent years to eliminate Cumberland from its schedule.

The City and the Chamber have asked the CAB to compel the airline to serve the Queen City, at least until the present certification expires in February of 1959.

McKeldin Signs Bills

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. McKeldin Thursday signed into law 11 pieces of legislation including a bill providing overtime pay for all salaried Sate employes working more than 40 hours a week.

The pay bill, introduced by Sen. Phoebus (R-Somerset), changes the old law which provided overtime after 44 hours.

Excluded from provisions of the measure are State Police and employes of the Game and Inland Fish Commission, Department of Forests and Parks, Department of Tidewater Fisheries and Alcohol Tax Enforcement Unit.

The new law was written as an emergency measure and goes into effect immediately.

Other major bills signed into law:

1. Provide that statewide referenda have the same number on all local election ballots.

2. Exempt certain illness and injury compensation payments from State income tax.

3. Release Western Maryland College from a $58,524 mortgage made to the State in 1928.

No Fund Drives, Says LaSalle

LaSalle High School authorities announced last night that the school is conducting no further fund drives for its basketball team.

The Friends of LaSalle have raised funds to send the team to the Eastern States Catholic Invitational Tournament at Newport, R. I., and the school said no other drives are being held.

"The only organization authorized to raise funds for LaSalle to send our team to tournament play is the Friends of LaSalle," said a statement issued by the school.

"No other organization or persons have been given authorization to raise funds in the name of LaSalle High School."

Legislature Re-enacts Tax, Other Bills

Special Session Lasts 3 Hours

By HERB THOMPSON

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The Legislature took only 3 hours and 14 minutes Thursday to re-enact tax bills and other matters which kept it snarled up six days beyond its constitutional deadline.

There was no debate in the General Assembly, called into special session by Gov. McKeldin to insure that its overtime work since last Friday would be legal.

House and Senate hurriedly ran through 16 bills, reprinted and renumbered duplicates of those passed during the twilight period of doubtful constitutionality.

Both houses were in session by 10:25 a. m. They were through by 1:39 p. m.

The controversial raise in the sales tax from 2 to 3 per cent—which caused the unprecedented overtime session ending early Wednesday—was the one which could have brought trouble.

Nobody Argues

But senators and delegates showed no inclination to argue. The Senate re-enacted it 16-13 with no change in voting except that Sen. Mudd (R-Charles), absent at the regular session windup, joined those voting for it. This provided one more vote than necessary for passage.

The House, which had approved the bill with only two votes to spare after rejecting it six times, had a few anxious moments.

The electric voting board showed only 58 votes for passage—4 shy of passage—when it first flashed on. But recording of the toll call was held up until five more delegates joined supporters and the measure was enacted 63-54.

If opponents had wanted to block the bill they could have done so when the House suspended rules to pass it on the same day it was introduced. This required 82 votes.

Passes Easily

The companion income tax raise, from 2 to 3 per cent on net income of individuals, was passed 27-2 in the Senate and 91-17 in the House. It never had been an issue in the plan to raise 33 million dollars for balancing a record state budget of 379 million.

The assembly also speedily legalized its work on other bills from the regular session.

These included the state capital improvements program totalling $9,488,800, official setting of the state real estate tax rate at 13.42 cents per $100 assessment to redeem bonds next year, authorization for the Department of Employment Security to spend $5,728,542 on a new building, and appropriation of 15,000 t cover the cost of today's special session.

Gov. McKeldin in a statement to the Legislature praised it "for a job well done in one of the most unusual and arduous periods of legislative activity in Maryland's governmental history."

McKeldin said the tax program which "consumed considerable time beyond the constitutional allotment and brought you into today's extraordinary session" should be "better, stronger and more effective because of the heat to which it was submitted."

"As we approach the coming fiscal year our financial situation is gratifyingly good, tested as it was in the crucible of conflict and tempered in the air of debate.

'No Special Burden'

"The upward tax adjustments which I proposed and you enacted are in keeping with the times and particularly, with Maryland's strong position in the industry and economy of the nation. The desirable balance of our revenue system has not been disturbed and no special burden has been placed on any business or population segment because of these acts."

He also praised the assembly for enacting bills banning Potomac River slot machine operations off the Virginia shore and outlawing parimutuel betting on jai alai in this state.

He expressed disappointment that it once again failed to pass a proposed constitutional amendment to consolidate Baltimore's traffic and police courts and regretted budget cuts in health and welfare funds.

"But I am confident that we again will pick up where we left off and resume our march of progress in these important fields," the governor said.

"All things considered, we again have demonstrated the vigor, force and feasibility of our democratic form of government."
